Trouble Spots Remain In Flood

Ice Jams Still A Threat; Damage Runs Into Millions

By The Associated Press

Surging waters receded in most rivers and streams in the nation's flood belt from Indiana into the Southeast today and the danger of new major flooding appeared ended temporarily.

But there were some critical spots in the flood zones and ice jamming remained a serious threat in some areas.

No heavy rainfall was reported in the more than a dozen states which have been hit by the season's first serious flooding. However, there were patches of light rain and snow flurries in some parts of the Ohio River Valley, the hardest hit by the late winter overflows.

Minor flooding was reported in some other Eastern and Southern states but the heaviest damage was in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Indiana. The floods, caused by heavy rains and melting snow, were blamed for at least 18 deaths. Property damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

The nation's general weather pattern showed few changes. No

Hancock Among 5 In Disaster Status

Hancock County is one of five in West Virginia's Northern Panhandle designated as a "disaster area" by the Small Business Administration in Washington, although it suffered little damage from flooding earlier this week.

The Walter Minnis family of five was evacuated from their home on N. Chester St. in New Cumberland when water from swollen Hardins Run flooded the basement, and there were other flooded cellars but the overall damage was not considered great.

The SBA in Washington designated Hancock, Brooke, Marshall, Ohio and Wetzel as disaster areas, making them eligible for federal loans at a low interest rate to repair flood damage to homes and small businesses.

heavy rain or snow was reported and temperatures were mostly near normal levels. Cool spots were across Northern areas from the Plains to Maine. It was a little cooler in the Southeast, with temperatures dropping to the upper 30s in extreme northern Florida and much of Dixie north of Florida.

Although flood conditions in most of Ohio appeared improved, there were some trouble spots. A mile-long ice jam broke in the Sandusky River in Fremont Thursday night, pushing the stream up to three feet above the 12-foot flood stage.

Huge ice floes 50 feet high were stacked at the north and south ends of Fremont. The river cuts through the city. Mayor Richard Maier declared a state of emergency for the northwest Ohio city of 18,000.

In Pennsylvania, an ice jam formed on the Susquehanna River in the Harrisburg area and residents in lowland areas north of the city were evacuated. Harrisburg, however, appeared in no immediate danger.

Flood warnings were issued for areas in central South Carolina.

The Broad River crested at 12 feet and the Congaree River rose rapidly to crest at 22 feet, 3 feet above flood stage.

Five counties in West Virginia, hit hard by overflows from the Ohio River and its tributaries earlier this week have been designated as disaster areas by the Small Business Administration in Washington. The counties are Brooke, Hancock, Marshall, Ohio and Wetzel, which will be eligible for federal loans for repairs to property caused by the damaging floods.

Norwich, Conn., also was declared a disaster area in the wake of damaging flood waters which swept into the city of 40,000 Wednesday night after a dam, weakened by heavy rains, broke. The tons of water set off a boiler explosion in a manufacturing plant, killing five persons. One woman drowned in the flood waters and six persons were hospitalized. Damage was estimated at between $2 million and $3 million.

STORM'S AFTERMATH. This ice jam at Sprucevale, one of many throughout the district, kept the Calcutta-Clarkson Rd. closed from Monday night until Wednesday night and this driveway leading to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Taylor finally was opened Thursday by a highlift. St. Clair Township trustees hired the highlift from Mike Pusateri. Excavating to open the highway after the township grader was unable to remove the big chunks of ice measuring over two feet thick. The highlift operated by Robert Dray is shown removing some of the last ice from the roadway to the Taylor home. Mrs. Taylor said the creek jammed about a mile below the bridge Monday night with the water and ice backing up into the fields near the Taylor home. As another jam upstream from the Taylor home broke loose Wednesday morning, the chunks floated through the fields "sounding like a thunderstorm" before the water subsided leaving the ice covering the roads, Mrs. Taylor said.

Jockey Club Defendants Ask Dismissal

Defense attorneys for 13 defendants facing federal charges arising from an FBI raid on the Jockey Club Feb. 16 filed four motions Thursday in U. S. District Court in Wheeling, asking for dismissal of charges and return and suppression of evidence.

Arguments on the motions filed in behalf of the defendants charged with traveling interstate to conduct a gambling operation at the Chester area club are slated for an open court hearing next Thursday at 10 a. m. in the Federal Building in the Ohio County seat.

Judge Charles Paul has set trial dates for March 25, subsequent to arrangements on the motions filed by the defense attorneys.

Eight defendants are named in one federal indictment charging eight violations. Another indictment charges five defendants with one violation each.

Motions were filed asking for dismissal of charges in each case for return and suppression of evidence.

More Snow Forecast With Cold Weekend

Spring's only 12 days away on the calendar — but the Ohio weatherman insists on belaboring the district with more winter.

The forecast is for snow and colder tonight and continued cold Saturday with a few snow flurries.

The mercury will dip to a sub-freezing range of 22 to 26 tonight. The downtown had a relatively mild 34 at 6 this morning. The temperature may not go above 40 today.

House Passage Nears

Battle Of The 'Blue Law' Goes On In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The battle of the "blue law" continued in the West Virginia legislature today.

The House was expected to pass and send back to the Senate a

Hancock Legislator Helps Pass House Bill

Miss Callie Tsapis, Democrat delegate from Hancock County, helped the House pass the non-profit medical corporation bill in the West Virginia Legislature Thursday.

The vote was 55-44, with 33 Democrats and two Republicans for, and 22 Democrats and 22 Republicans against.

drastically overhauled version of the Sunday - closing bill which the Senate passed four days ago.

The bill is now a county-option measure. This major change was put through by Del. Paul H. Kidd, D-Gilmer, during more than two hours of House amendment action last night on the anti-discout store legislation.

Chairman William A. Moreland, D-Monongalia, planned a last-ditch attempt in the Senate Judiciary Committee today to send the House-passed medical service corporation bill to the Senate floor.

But even of Moreland succeeded in sending the bill out, its chance of Senate passage would be slim. With only two days of the legislative session left, the three-reading rule would have to be suspended by a four - fifths vote for the bill to be pushed through.

This is the controversial bill under which subscriber - run, non-profit corporations could be set up to employ physicians on salaries. The corporations would furnish medical services to subscribers for payment of a monthly fee.

The constitutional 60 days for the legislative session end at midnight tomorrow. The lawmakers are free to continue beyond that time in extended session, if necessary, but the added time would be restricted exclusively to the budget and supporting revenue measures.

One major piece of legislation was disposed of late yesterday when the Senate voted 30-2 to put a $200-million road bond amendment on the 1964 election ballot.

The House had adopted the measure 79-19 last Monday. Senate action was final, as constitutional amendment resolutions do not go to the governor for approval or veto.

The measure will give the legislature power to authorize sale of up to $20 million worth of road bonds annually for 10 years. It would be the largest bond authorization in West Virginia history.

Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, R-Marshall, and Sen. Jack L. Miller, R-Wood, cast the only Senate votes against the measure.

Kidd's county - option amendment to the Sunday-closing bill was adopted 53-46. He said that discount stores operating on Sundays were a problem only in a few urban counties and that rural counties would rather not be dissolved.

Death Claims Fifth Member Of 'Opry' Cast

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The entertainers of the Grand Ole Opry are a saddened group today. Intertwined accidents have killed five members of the noted country music troupe that is as close-knit as a farm family.

Jack Anglin, 46, an 11-year veteran of the Opry, was killed Thursday when his car left a road on a curve near here and hit a tree. He apparently was en route to prayer services for Patsy Cline.

Miss Cline died in a plane crash Tuesday night, as did two other singers—Hawkshaw Hawkins and Cowboy Copas—and Miss Cline's manager-pilot, Randy Hughes.

"It is almost impossible to realize so many of our people could be so unfortunate in such a brief period of time," said Ott Devine, program manager of the Opry and its voice—Nashville radio station WSM. "The entire WSM Grand Ole Opry cast is broken hearted in this time of sorrow."

The radio station, which started

Jobless Tied To Demands For Tax Cut

Democrats Press For Action With Unemployment Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats called for faster action on President Kennedy's tax cut bill and his various economic proposals today in the wake of a jump in the national jobless rate to 6.1 per cent.

The new figure, reflecting February employment figures, was announced Thursday by the Labor Department. It was the highest seasonally adjusted rate in 14 months and compared with 5.8 per cent in January.

Republicans interpreted the announcement as vindication of their argument that Kennedy has not met the test he set in the 1960 campaign — to get the country moving again.

A key figure in the fight over the tax bill who asked not to be identified told a reporter that if the unemployment rate stayed above 6 per cent when the March figures are announced in April, he was certain that House Ways and Means Committee would approve tax reduction. That group now is in the midst of lengthy public hearings on the bill.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said the increased unemployment rate "clearly demonstrates the necessity in the Congress to act promptly on the President's recommendations for legislation to strengthen our economy and provide more jobs."

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., a member of the tax-writing Finance Committee, said "we need to increase demand and consequently production and employment by a tax cut and we need some additional public works in areas of high unemployment."

Democrats said the jobs decline also should build support in Congress for quick passage of the $500 million in emergency public works funds still not voted out of $900 million authorized last year.

However, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said "if this is an example of progress on the New Frontier, we'd better try another road."

Kennedy May Shift Strategy Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources predicted today that if Congress trims President Kennedy's tax cut proposal and rejects most of his reforms, Kennedy will come back with a 1964 tax bill stressing reforms.

The shift in strategy would not be too painful for Kennedy, it was hinted, because an initial, simple, one-shot tax reduction is basically what Kennedy had in mind last year when he first called for "an across the board, top to bottom cut."

The economic impact would be greater than that of the three-year stretchout of rate reduction Kennedy finally chose to ask, informants said, and from that standpoint has been preferred by the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The administration now is reported to be hoping that an acceptable bill—even if it differs considerably from Kennedy's program—can be enacted in time to take effect October 1.

"If we hadn't had the deficit problem, we would have recommended a one-shot reduction of around $6 billion or $7 billion, leaving reform until a later date," one official disclosed.

Faced with an unexpectedly large budget deficit when the time came to send his fiscal program

Key To Future? Syria Explodes Once More

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

The tortured heart of Arab nationalism is in Syria, its birthplace. In Syria may be the key to its future.

In the dusty, colorful streets of Damascus, the oldest continuous city in the world, there is a permanent atmosphere of tension and anxiety.

It is a strange atmosphere. You cannot put your finger on just what is wrong. The Damascenes have lived with the feeling for generations and they are fatalistic about it.

Syria has exploded many times, each time with repercussions throughout the Arab East. In an era of cold war and world tension, the explosions become progressively more dangerous. Unfortunately for Syria, her geography is far too important for her to be left alone in peace.

Syria, the ancient land of the Phoenicians, lies at the eastern end of the Mediterranean with an important, bustling port at Latakia. Across the country run 430 miles of pipeline of the Iraq Petroleum Company, feeding vital fuel to Europe's industry. Syria occupies the western part of the Arab East's fertile crescent, and greater Syria has been a dream of many nationalists.

The clash between the modern West and the ancient East is evident on all sides. Swank Arabs finger their ever-present beads but look as Western as Chicagoans. In restaurants and cabarets they mingle with dark-skinned bearded sheiks in robes and head-

Presses To Roll Again Strike Nears End In New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of publishers and striking printers agreed today on a new contract, clearing the way for an end to New York's 91-day-old newspaper shutdown.

Key provisions of the pact are an increase in wages over a two-year period, plus a reduction in hours the second year, for a total package of $12.63.

Cost of the strike within the industry has been estimated in excess of $100 million.

There was no indication how soon eight closed newspapers, which before the strike printed 5 1/2 million copies a day, might resume publication.

The agreement is subject to union ratification, but Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he assumed it would be ratified in view of its unanimous endorsement by local and international officers of the International Typographical Union, AFL-CIO, and by the publishers. Wagner made the announcement at 6:30 a.m. He had proposed the settlement shortly after midnight.

"This means that the shutdown involving the printers will end as soon as the union completes negotiations of certain so-called clean-up issues and ratifies the agreement," said Wagner.

"In addition," he said, "negotiations are continuing with the newsboys."

Liquidating Firm Reports Knowles Plant Prospects

A Fulton County industrial liquidating firm which has acquired the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. plant and machinery said today it is negotiating with "several prospects" interested in buying the factory as an entity, including a number now in the vitreous and semi - vitreous dinnerware field.

Yoder & Frey, Inc., of Archbold, which acquired the property through purchase of the stock, said it is continuing efforts to sell the property as "a going concern."

The machinery still is intact to the extent that a new owner could move in and begin dinnerware production again without difficulty, the firm said.

The Knowles concern suspended operations late in 1962 after the stockholders voted for liquidation.

In early December, Yoder & Frey was hired to sell the assets at public auction. However, the auction was canceled when Knowles' directors heard of a prospective purchaser for the entire plant.

Although the deal fell through, the auction never was scheduled again.

On Feb. 1, Knowles sent its

Reports Tell Of Fighting In Streets

All Americans In Damascus Sector Are Believed Safe

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Pro-Nasser army officers launched a revolution in Syria today and claimed control of the country. But Turkish officials in Ankara received reports of violent street fighting in Damascus.

Western diplomats in Cairo had reports from Damascus that no resistance to the coup had developed in the capital by mid-morning and street demonstrations in support of the army were taking place.

The rebels, broadcasting on Damascus Radio, pledged themselves to forge Arab unity "in the shortest possible time." They condemned Syria's withdrawal without saying they wanted to rejoin the U.A.R.

The U.S. Embassy in Cairo reported communications from Damascus indicated all Americans there were safe and were not affected by the coup.

Baghdad Radio said the Syrian rebels messaged Iraq that "we are in control" and "there is no need for any action on your part." The rebels said their situation was excellent.

The Turkish foreign ministry said top leaders of the Syrian government, including Premier Khal El Azem, had taken refuge in the Turkish Embassy in Damascus.

The pro-Nasser revolutionary regime in neighboring Iraq and Nasser's United Arab Republic quickly voiced all-out support for the Syrian revolutionists and warned against foreign intervention.

The warnings appeared directed at Israel and pro-Western Jordan.

The Israeli army, facing the largest concentration of Syria's army on Israel's northeast frontier, was reported on the alert. But no special emergency measures were announced in Jerusalem.

Reports to Cairo said the rebels held the army headquarters in Damascus and were believed to have arrested the armed forces

Crew Begins 1st Phase Of Street Repair

City crews today started work on patching some of the worst pavement holes created in East Liverpool's streets by the most severe winter weather in many years, forerunner of an all-out repair program that will be launched when conditions are more favorable.

Safety - Service Director Robert Owen conceded today that the weather damage on some streets probably is the most severe in memory, citing as an outstanding example the broken condition of the blacktop on St. Clair Ave. between the Diamond and the Horn Switch.

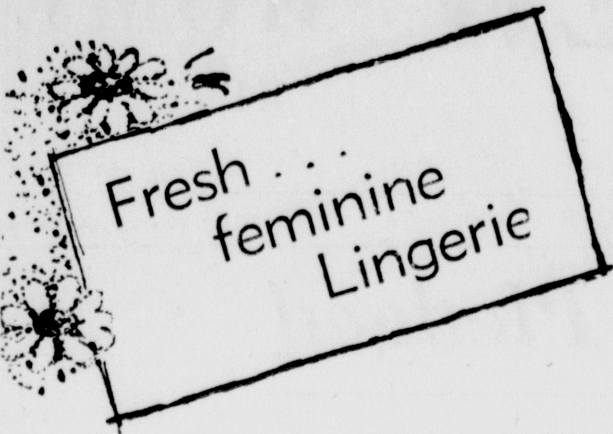

Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin said his crews went to work today to patch chuckholes on Pennsylvania Ave. near 1st and Virginia Aves. If weather permits, they are scheduled to continue into the downtown area to patch sections of 4th, 5th and 6th Sts., Laughlin said.

Only cold patch blacktop material is available until spring weather again.

State Of Emergency Declared

Fremont Braces Against Ice Jams

By The Associated Press

Ice jamming remained a major flood threat today in Fremont, a Northwest Ohio city of 18,000. The swollen Sandusky River level climbed slightly above 15 feet—three feet above flood stage.

Some 150 city workmen spent the night watching ice jams at the north and south ends of Fremont to determine whether the situation was changing.

"If the ice jam south of us holds, our worries may be over," said Mayor Richard Maier. "But if it lets loose, the river level could rise another two feet and we'd be in real trouble."

Maier, one of these keeping a night-long vigil, declared a state of emergency when a mile-long ice jam broke shortly before 5 p. m. Thursday.

The ice break-up forced more than 350 persons living in low-lying areas to leave their homes. The Red Cross provided lodging for them in emergency shelters.

Downtown streets were barricaded and all pedestrian and vehicular traffic was barred except by pass. Two amphibious ducks patrolled downtown sections, where only a small amount of water had trickled into the streets.

In low-lying areas on the East Side, however, water flowed through nine blocks of Howland Street like a canal. Basements and businesses on Front Street were flooded.

The ice jam south of Fremont formed just before the Baillyville Dam. Described as a half mile long with chunks of ice 20 feet high, it kept tons of water from gushing into the city.

The ice that was backed up north of the city jammed near the bridge near the center of Fremont. It prevented the rising water from flowing into Sandusky Bay, which is away from the city.

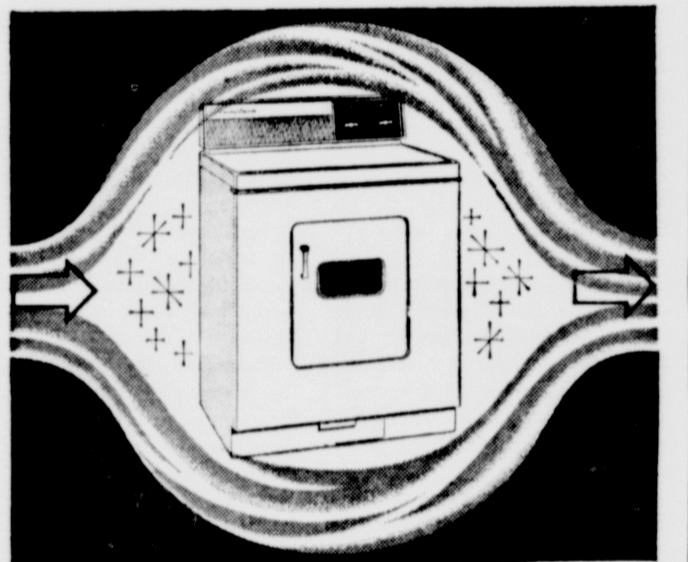

The weather forecasts through tonight indicated there would be no rainfall to further complicate the flood situation. The ice jamming was unpredictable.

In other parts of the state, several communities were faced with the mountainous task of cleaning up after receding flood waters. Still others prepared for floods yet to come.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Cincinnati said the Ohio River is expected to crest at Portsmouth at 58.2 feet around midnight. Flood stage at that point is 50 feet.

Downriver from Cincinnati, the river at the new high-level Markland, Ind., dam was expected to crest Sunday morning about three feet above flood stage.

er arrives. Until recent years, neither cold mix nor hot mix material could be obtained during the winter months. In recent years, blacktop plants have made it a practice to prepare the cold patch material during the summer and stockpile it for sale in the winter when their plants are shut down.

The hot mix material normally is not available until warm weather ushers in the street repair and construction season.

Damage appears more severe this winter because the crews have not had an opportunity for periodic patching work since early December, Laughlin pointed out. In most winters, there are brief spells of dry, warmer weather when at least some maintenance work can be performed on the worst chuckholes, he pointed out.

However, Owen said he made a recent tour of streets improved with a low-cost hard surface last summer and found they held up surprisingly well through the winter.

"You actually have to hunt to find a chuckhole," the director said.

The block-long section of St. Clair just off the Diamond is broke up worse than at any time in recent memory. Laughlin said some of the worst holes have been filled with slag in the area of Central Fire Station. Similar patchwork was done on parts of outer St. Clair Ave., a virtual wilderness of pavement holes, he said.

The patching was one with so-called "green slag," the residue from steel mill blast furnaces. Conventional slag, lighter in color, comes from the openhearth.

Meanwhile, Owen said the city will haul and spread slag free of charge on muddy streets if property-owners will band together to share the cost. Ashes are not available in sufficient quantity for use in building up muddy streets, the director said.

Heavy slag is available at $1.10 a ton and the regular slag costs $2.15 a ton, he said. He said house-

Syria is a land of contradictions, rich in the history of Islam and Christianity but splattered with the blood of the eternal clash between East and West.

Syria's wounds are deep and old. Once she was a proud nation dominating a vast area. But she has a history of indignities, of colonialism, of big power politics. Hatred rages in the Arab breast for neighboring Israel, which the Arabs consider an expression of western imperialism.

Syria's history is one of invasions: By the Egyptians, the Assyrians, the Macedonians, the Persians, the Mongols, and finally the Turks of the Ottoman Empire, who ruled the country harshly for 400 years. After World War I the French came to the Levant with a League of Nations mandate.

The Syrians were restless and resentful under the French and there were many disturbances. By the end of World War II, the French could hold out no longer and Syria won her independence in 1946.

Everybody's White Elephant

Government spenders have an old trick of challenging their critics to tell where they would cut expenses.

If the critics fail to pop up with a detailed list, the spenders chortle, "What did we tell you? We're already on rock bottom."

Nonsense like this has pushed this nation to the brink of financial irresponsibility — the nonsense that spenders cannot be challenged successfully.

They are not making ends meet.

If they're on rock bottom and need more money, they either must ask for more taxes or be guilty of breaking faith with the people.

But, instead they're asking for less tax income—more spending but less revenue.

They don't know what rock bottom is. The generation of billionitis that began with the New Deal and has carried the national debt far past $300 billion, besides crippling the nation's economy with confiscatory taxes, has been presided over at the top executive level by two sons of wealthy men who never earned a living, an unsuccessful small businessman who spent most of his life on public payrolls and a military careerist paid according to his rank. What would they know about rock bottom?

HERE ARE a few facts about rock bottom that might keep Washington from sounding daffy when it says it has saved every penny that can be saved:

It's when you subtract the cheese from the macaroni and cheese;

When the four jobs that were consolidated into two jobs are consolidated into one job and the one job is cut down to part-time;

When the coat that was cut down for the second kid in the family is cut down again for the third kid, then given to a relative's kid for the wear still left in it;

When the improvement everybody had been talking about for years, provided it could be afforded, finally isn't mentioned because a dozen things have become more important—and 11 of them are concerned with saving money;

When the wolf that has been scratching at the door is permitted to come into the house so it can be pounced on, dressed out and converted into wolfburgers;

When the white elephant considered sacred because of its color is painted gray and given to a traveling circus.

FREE-SPENDING government is everybody's white elephant.

The fact is, it's not sacred.

The fact is, it can be sent on its way.

The fact is, government can live within its income like its citizens and like the wealth-producing enterprises that pay for government.

The federal frying-out process being undertaken by Republican members of the House Appropriations Committee under Ohio Rep. Frank T. Bow will be blocked by the Kennedy administration's claim that it's on rock bottom.

Nonsense.

Most of those fellows wouldn't recognize a rock bottom if they were worm-fishing, let alone running a government.

'Zanesville Story'

"The Zanesville Story", which was presented forcefully in an Associated Press story on page one of Thursday's Review, again demonstrates how a community can help itself when it finds the going rough.

Residents of the Ohio city didn't sit back, wring their hands in despair and moan when they saw some of their long-time industries fading away because of the economic pinch. Instead, they decided to do something about it.

By taking a lesson from others who had been in the same boat at one time or another, a group of progressive Zanesville residents launched an organization designed to bring in new industry and promote the overall advancement of the area.

Among the steps taken to get the ball rolling were the setting up of a loan fund from which industries will be able to draw for construction, establishment of a 1 per cent income tax (which drew howls of protests originally just as an income tax did here) and the drafting of a "plan" for present and future operations.

East Liverpool's problems in many ways are similar to those of Zanesville. How the southeastern Ohio community met the challenge should be studied carefully as we go about the business of pulling ourselves up by our bootstraps.

Cuba Is A Poor Risk

When the facts about the Soviet takeover of Cuba are known, as they will be one day, speculation that has been rife since Fidel Castro tipped his hand will be mostly meaningless.

It is unlikely, for example, that Cuba is being regarded by the Soviet Union as an important unit in the Communist satellite system. Cuba was a poor risk for the United States after it was liberated from Spanish rule. It is a poor risk for the Soviet Union, for the same reason.

Cubans are not adaptable to orderly administration. Cuba is not adaptable to satellite existence. Cubans never have been able to feed themselves. They are not industrialized. They are strangers to political stabilization. They would be a drag on the Communist conspiracy.

But their island is strategically situated for a military staging area.

If the Soviet Union can keep the Cubans preoccupied long enough with revolutionary hoopla, it can amass the military hardware it needs for a major assault on its real objective.

Naturally, Americans assume this would be the United States. But only North Americans see the New World in such narrow perspective.

Is it not far likelier that the Soviet Union would think first of defenseless South America, whose populations have no ready-made resistance to revolutionary hoopla? Millions of South American Indians could be convinced they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by taking a chance on something new. Communism and capitalism are words without meaning to them.

Are North Americans unwittingly giving a hand to a grand design of Communist conspiracy that calls for keeping the world's attention riveted on Cuba when the place to watch is Brazil?

Are Cubans themselves being fooled into believing they figure in Soviet expansion into the New World when their island's role is only that of a stepping stone to the real affront to the Monroe Doctrine, which will materialize in an assault or a takeover on the South American mainland?

Natural Blessing

Flood waters again are plaguing many communities along the Ohio River. Hundreds have found it necessary to evacuate their homes.

But with the exception of those who reside in low-lying areas, the rampaging river has meant little in the way of hardship to East Liverpool and the immediate area. Things in general have been normal.

This points up a blessing which often may be overlooked—we have the river as a dynamic natural resource without the discomfort and damage that results in many other communities when it decides to kick up its heels.

It is something that industry looking for new sites should not forget.

By Truman Twill

doing a takeoff on Buster Keaton, but some of them are foxy enough now to go bare-headed.

The only sure-fire way to spot a Soviet spy would be if he spoke Russian. But they've thought of that, too. They speak the local patois like natives.

Unless you knew their innermost thoughts, no one could be sure of cornering a Soviet spy, which is the gist of Mr. Hoover's message to his countrymen via AP. He has pointed out, though, that this has been no special problem for the FBI. It is on top of the spy situation at all times. It's the rest of us who worries about it.

It makes us aging citizens yearn for that uncomplicated era when everything was knowable. A Bolshevik wore a bear and carried a smoking bomb. A tycoon wore a stovepipe hat and had a gold watch chain draped across his lard belly. Poor people looked ragged. Rich people looked rich.

Uncle Sam had a white goatee. U.S. senators wore string ties, gay ladies wore rouge, honest, upright workmen carried lunch buckets and wore their shirts unbuttoned, newspapermen wore hats indoors like detectives, thieves acted furtive, good guys wore white, bad ones wore black. Irishmen were always gassed-up and all Scotsmen were thriffriffy.

There were a thousand signs. There was a place for everything and everything was in its place. It isn't that way now. What it amounts to is that anyone might be a Soviet spy and should be so regarded until proved otherwise.

Amen!

Kennedy 'Vulnerable', Nixon Feels

By Victor Riesel

A chipper, good humored and ebullient Richard Nixon, after conferring privately with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for more than an hour, told me that, though John Kennedy will be a "mighty formidable" candidate in 1964, the President can be beaten by a Republican "waging a vigorous campaign."

The former vice president added that the President could be "vulnerable" next year on two issues — the home economy and foreign policy.

"There are two great issues," said Mr. Nixon. "The economic issue — how will the country, the economy, be doing next year — and what will be the situation in foreign policy."

"People who today, for example, try to judge how the election will come out in 1964 are rather naive."

"There can be a great change. I have urged on many previous occasions a strong and vigorous campaign on the issues on which Mr. Kennedy is vulnerable. It must be expected that any sudden change on these two vulnerable issues would certainly change the opinion polls overnight."

"I don't believe these polls should be taken seriously. I think too many people pay too much attention to the polls. I say again things can change overnight."

MUCH OF THIS had been the substance of the private talk between Nixon and Rockefeller late in the afternoon of Saturday, March 2.

It was the governor who had telephoned the Californian at the Waldorf Astoria. For both of them it was no lost weekend. Nixon arrived for his rendezvous with Rockefeller in Laurence Rockefeller's apartment at 834 Fifth Ave. just before 5:30.

It was a cordial meeting indeed. They discussed the Republican party, possible candidates, and the Kennedy administration.

Later Nixon told me there was nothing definite outlined in the way of tickets or strategy.

"It is too early to indicate what candidates," said Nixon, "should be supported. I will go to the national convention. I will campaign."

I will back the party's candidate."

I asked Nixon what he considered his future role in the GOP. "I will not be making any public speeches," said the former vice president, "before June 15. Then I'm taking the family to Europe for a long trip — England, France, Germany, Italy, the Vatican, Spain, and I'll go right into East Berlin."

HE CHUCKLED at the suggestion that, this time he hit Chairman Khrushchev with the kitchen sink (figuratively) instead of debating in front of it.

"But when I return, in addition to practicing law, earning a living and spending considerable time in the East, I'll be doing much writing and speaking."

"I'll be in the constructive opposition. I'm not going to criticize Mr. Kennedy for criticism's sake."

"I'll not always be in opposition. I intend to call them as I see them."

"And if I find my own party needs criticism, it will get it too. I'll try to be an independent voice. This is the responsibility of a citizen. There is an obligation to spend time in public affairs and I won't dodge that."

Before visiting the governor that Saturday afternoon, the former presidential candidate discussed his 1960 opponent in an off-the-record barrage of questions and answers at the University Club. Nixon drew the largest crowd in the traditional luncheon series.

NIXON SAID that John Kennedy's popularity and influence were slipping from the high spot which came during the October Cuban crisis.

Nixon is for a blockade of Cuba. The implication is that the administration could become most vulnerable on the Cuban issue and it could have impact on the '64 election.

From New York Nixon left for Chicago and another off-the-record talk and then home.

In answer to a final question I put to him, he said he had not heard from President Kennedy but that there soon would be a long visit with another President, Dwight Eisenhower, in Palm Springs.

They'll be "just" two private citizens with lots of time for golf and talk — of the past and of the future.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Joseph W. Wells was toastmaster during the 40th banquet event of Eik's Lodge 258.

Tom Dixon's Potters were eliminated from the Eastern District tournament at Dennison by Uhrichville, 28-27.

Rev. Harold F. Post, retiring pastor of the Wellsville First Presbyterian Church, was honored at a farewell reception by Boy Scout Troop 19, of which he was scoutmaster for five years.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Shirley Smith won first honors in the second annual Bible-reading contest at the Second United Presbyterian Church.

Lawrence W. Smith Jr., president of the East Liverpool Junior Chamber of Commerce, who was preparing to leave for the Army, was honored by the Jaycees with a party at Travelers.

TEN YEARS AGO — Daniel Lee Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper of Orchard Grove

Ave., was appointed to fill a vacancy at the U.S. Naval Academy, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, announced at Washington.

Jim Betts, former East Liverpool High School star, established a new scoring record for a single season—400 points—at Ohio University.

Odd Facts

The World War II phrase, "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition," is credited to Howell M. Forgy, a navy chaplain aboard the cruiser "New Orleans." The ship was at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese attack, and the chaplain encouraged the men who were manning the guns against the attack with his famous saying. The phrase was later made into a popular song written by Frank Loesser.

Although proverbially the bagpipe is considered a Scottish musical instrument, it was introduced into Scotland by the Norsemen. The instrument is of very ancient origin, as representations of it are to be found in old Grecian and Roman sculptures.

Noah Webster, historic compiler of the two-volume "American Dictionary of the English Language," also prepared the popular "Blue-Backed Speller." Next to the Bible, the Speller, which sold about 100 million copies in a century, holds the record as America's all-time best-seller.

There are one to one and one-fourth gallons of blood in the average human body.

No Cure By Law

By David Lawrence

Another Look At The Negro Question

Almost everyone with a humane instinct would like to see better relations between Negroes and whites in the United States.

Existing problems are not solved, however, either by lawless demonstrations or by reliance merely on legal steps, so many of which go beyond the letter of the law. David Lawrence There's something deeper involved.

It's, therefore, interesting to get from another country a detached and dispassionate view such as appeared a few days ago in The Daily Telegraph of London, England, one of the oldest and most influential newspapers in Europe. In an editorial apropos of President Kennedy's message to Congress last week on civil rights, the Telegraph said in part:

"As all the world knows, what inhibits the advancement of the Negro in the United States is the same force that operates, in greater or less degree, wherever he inherits from past generations a tradition of inferiority. It's social prejudice; and that is a sentiment that can be outgrown, but not repealed."

"Though all must applaud the President's renewed campaign to enforce the equal law, acts of Congress or Parliament cannot make the white man feel for the black man as a brother."

"An American would be a political pariah who denied the Declaration of Independence, with its dogmatic opening that all men are created equal; but that 'self-evident truth' will no more get a Negro an invitation to dine with a Virginian senator and his wife than it could induce the eminent Virginians who promulgated it to emancipate their slaves. A social revolution is required, and will come: but only with time."

BY COINCIDENCE, the same day that a copy of the Telegraph editorial arrived, this correspondent received a handwritten letter from a housewife in Meridian, Miss., which read as follows:

"We of the South have no way of letting the world know our side of life, as there is so much prejudice against us. We are not against the colored people, and the real Southern Negroes know it. But outsiders are interfering with them, and, of course, some are disturbed."

"I have a maid who has been working for me 20 years. She is just like one of the family, and would do anything for us. She likes to go to her own church. She has a nice son whom we helped to educate. He now is teaching school and is very happy with his own race and that's the way the majority of them are down here."

Ebb-And-Flow Rhythm

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON That ebb-and-flow rhythm President Kennedy sees in national and international life alternates between hot jazz, a slow waltz and pandemonium, particularly in Congress.

When things slow down one place, by Kennedy's theory, they perk up in another. For example, the Russians ease pressure on Europe and then French President de Gaulle, with the heat off, cause his own allies trouble.

And while Congress has done practically nothing on Kennedy's domestic program, as he noted this week, individual members find time to pant for facts about foreign dealings, especially Cuba.

At this point up pops Rep. George Mahon to complain that both Democrats and Republicans in Congress, and members of the administration, too, have been talking too much about things he thinks should be kept secret.

The Texas Democrat, a voice in the wilderness at the moment, said:

"There is an intelligence gap in the intelligence of those who are daily revealing the secrets of the intelligence operations of the United States government."

His call for silence will be welcomed by the Kennedy administration which, already having been accused of "managing" the news about Cuba, has been pushed into giving out information about it in dribs and drabs.

This is a dilemma it might have avoided by giving out more information before—most pointedly about the Cuban invasion failure in 1961—and for these reasons:

Kennedy himself admitted it was American-backed and took full responsibility for it. Once that had been admitted other details could have been given without endangering the American intelligence system.

For instance: The number of Americans killed in the try to demolish Castro.

For weeks members of both parties in Congress have been beating a steady tattoo on the President. A few have been so carried

"We want them to have equal advantages, and some have lovely homes and cars, farms and businesses. They certainly couldn't have gotten where they are unless the white people helped them. They are not mistreated."

ENCLOSED with her letter was a clipping on which the Meridian woman wrote: "We could never get this printed in papers in the North." The article from The Clarion Ledger of Jackson, Miss., dated Jan. 15, 1963, included some group pictures showing Willie Richardson, Negro, together with his mother and prominent whites — among them city officials — who honored him. The Associated Press story read in part as follows:

"The City of Jackson honored Little All-American Willie Richardson of Jackson State College Monday with a parade and warm words of praise on the city hall steps. Mayor Allen Thompson, summing up his official proclamation of Willie Richardson Day, said the Negro pass-catching ace was an 'outstanding athlete and, better yet, an outstanding individual.'"

"Almost 1,000 persons braved the 20-degree temperature to hear Thompson and Jackson State president, Jacob Reddix, laud Richardson after a gala parade featuring Jackson State's quick-stepping bands, floats and a convertible carrying Willie and Coach John Merritt had wound through the business district."

It is easy enough for some of the negro agitators impatiently to brush aside all stories about friendly relations between the white and colored people in the South and to sneer even at the kindnesses in the so-called "master and servant" relationships. The truth is that, while a social prejudice against intermarriage of races, for example, does exist, this does not connote a lack of friendship for Negroes, individually or as a race, among the white people of the South.

LETTERS, moreover, from the more discerning of the Negro leaders indicate that they do not consider everyone who disagrees with them to be a racist, and they express disapproval of the tactics of their own organizations which produce bad feeling between the races.

But as long as politicians among Negroes as well as whites feel there is gain for them in exploiting racial controversies, the campaign of agitation will continue to intensify and to increase ill-feeling.

Meanwhile, the true friends of the Negro who want to help him to progress will not be able to do movement which truly sought the job that could be done by a movement which truly sought to bring about the advancement of the colored people.

away by their ardor for extinguishing Castro that they have called for a Cuban blockade. Kennedy had to remind them at his news conference Wednesday a blockade means war.

It was probably Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who got under the administration's skin more than anyone else with his doubts that all the Russian missiles were out of Cuba.

Kennedy felt compelled to defend himself by putting Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and an aide on television for two hours last month to show, with aerial photographs, how the United States spied on Cuba.

This may have saved time and trouble for Soviet agents who had been sniffing and snooping to find out what the United States had found out, but it only invigorated some members of Congress to fresh pursuit.

While Mahon didn't put the finger on the people he wants to pipe down, there has been a great deal of talking.

Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen reportedly told Kennedy the Republicans will continue to pound away at the administration's handling of Cuba.

He's been conducting a one-man investigation of it.

A Democrat, Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, whose Senate Preparedness subcommittee is investigating, has demanded "full disclosure" of all available facts from the administration.

Decline Seen In Bill Output Of Assembly

By ART PARKS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It begins to look as though the legislature won't even approach the bill-introduction record of 1,714 set two years ago.

Only 772 bills are in the hopper now and the House deadline has been set for 10 days from now—March 18. The Senate will not set a deadline.

In 1961, the House received 1,123 bills and the Senate 591.

So far, House members have introduced 566 bills and senators 206, apparently heeding the economy pleas by legislative leaders and avoiding, for the most part, introduction of duplicate bills in both Senate and House.

Highlight of the legislative day as the lawmakers ended their ninth work week Thursday was a resolution by five Cleveland House members to repeal the 60-year-old constitutional amendment which gives every Ohio county, regardless of size, at least one member in the Ohio House.

All the sponsors are Democrats.

The resolution, designed to return to the pre-1903 system of apportioning house membership in a fairly strict population basis, apparently has no chance of getting on the ballot. It would end rural domination of the House, and the predominantly Republican rural members appear to be in no mood to surrender that control. Republicans have majorities in both houses.

Political observers now believe the only chance of repealing the so-called Hanna amendment is to get the issue on the ballot through a petition signed by more than 350,000 voters.

Meanwhile came an echo of the collapse last November of a special grand jury looking into charges of influence peddling in connection with the listing of liquor brands in Ohio's state-monopoly stores.

That grand jury folded when it was disclosed that its foreman, John Melville of Columbus, had a criminal record which made him ineligible for membership on the grand jury. As an apparent result, the House Thursday passed 96-7 and sent to the Senate a bill requiring examination under oath of grand jurors as to their qualifications.

The Senate passed a bill permitting prosecution of a motorist intoxicated on 3.2 beer for driving while under the influence of alcohol. The measure, if it gets through the House, will end once and for all the assertions before the repeal of prohibition 30 years ago—that 3.2 beer is non-intoxicating.

Present Ohio law permits the sale of 3.2 beer to minors between 18 and 21. But a proposed law has passed the House and is about ready for Senate consideration which would prohibit consumption of 3.2 beer in motor vehicles.

Paper Contract Set

CINCINNATI (AP)—Negotiations which started on March 1 have resulted in a tentative contract agreement between the American Newspaper Guild and the Cincinnati Post & Times-Star.

Report Reveals 'Deficiencies' In Powell's Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, has placed in the Congressional Record a report of an audit on a juvenile delinquency project being conducted in the Harlem district of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

The report, by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, mentioned "a number of deficiencies" in the juvenile program which received a $250,000 federal grant.

Ashbrook also placed into the record a letter from Bernard Russell, director of the HEW's Office of Juvenile Delinquency, to Livingston Wingate, who is in charge of the Harlem project.

The letter noted, among other things, that the balance in the checking account was not carried forward after Jan. 7, 1963, and that the method of keeping accounts is inadequate to control expenditures.

A group known as Associated Community Teams is carrying out the project. Powell is a director of the organization.

Delta Queen Will Do 'Good Turn' For Foe

CINCINNATI (AP)—The operators of the Delta Queen have agreed to give the Belle of Louisville a handicap in their upcoming race—the first steamboat race on the Ohio River for years.

The more powerful Delta Queen is not as maneuverable as the Belle of Louisville (formerly the Avalon), and Greene Line Steamers agreed Thursday to include a turn in the race.

Originally the paddlewheel steamers were to race from Louisville, Ky., to an island 12 miles up the river. Now they will go to the island and back.

The race will be part of Louisville's Derby Weekend.

Water Clients Pay Up Fast In Florida Town

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—More than 50 residents of Miami Springs scurried to City Hall to pay delinquent water bills Thursday.

"I never saw anything like it," one clerk said. "They came dashing in as fast as they could, with the money in their hands."

Then the truth was learned. A road grader accidentally cut the main water line into Miami Springs. Many residents thought their water had been cut off because of non-paid bills.

Strike

tions involving other unions, two of whom are still on strike, will likewise have to be completed.

Still on strike are unions representing stereotypers and mailers. The shutdown deprived New Yorkers of all nine of their major dailies for a record 87 days. The New York Post broke the solid front of the Publishers Association of New York and resumed publication Monday.

As outlined by Wagner, the third-party agreement he worked out—as accepted by negotiators for both sides—provides for a wage rise of $6.51 the first year of the contract and $6.12 the second.

Also included, Wagner said, are various terms to offset the effects of automation—called a prime issue in the dispute by the president of ITU Local 6, Bertram A. Powers. Asked for details, the mayor said it was complicated and he would rather not discuss it.

The mayor said there also was agreement in principle on a common expiration date of all union contracts, subject to approval by other craft unions and the American Newspaper Guild.

Wagner presented his proposal shortly after midnight. Both sides withdrew to discuss it.

The mayor met first with publishers' representatives, then with members of the ITU executive committee, headed by International President Elmer Brown, who had come here from union headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Then followed a closed meeting with the Newspaper Unity Committee representing all 10 newspaper unions. In all, more than 18,000 of their members had been to be resolved.

Asked whether he thought the package would be accepted by his local's 2,000 printers, Powers said: "I think so." He noted that there were still some outstanding issues to be resolved.

Amory H. Bradford, general manager and vice president of the New York Times and chief negotiator for the publishers, said it was "a costly settlement but one which is acceptable to the publishers."

Bradford estimated that if the package is accepted by the printers—and if the other newspaper craft unions accept similar terms it will cost the papers about $18.5 million over the next two years.

There was no indication that the agreement will result in a rise in newsstand prices of the papers.

Bradford said the agreement would be effective from the day the newspapers resume publication. He said the publishers would meet with the ITU again—"to clean up the remaining issues and to agree on contract language"—after everyone had had a chance to rest.

The newspaper shutdown—longest and costliest in this city's history—began Dec. 8, when the printers struck the Times, Daily News, Journal-American and World-Telegram & Sun.

Although their contracts with all the papers expired at the same time, the printers did not strike the Post, Herald Tribune, Mirror, Long Island Press and Long Island Star-Journal. Those papers closed voluntarily although the Press continued to publish editions for circulation outside New York City.

The mailers union, a sister union of the ITU, joined the strike Jan. 9, and the stereotypers went on strike this week.

Originally, the printers asked an increase of $19 a week, plus fringe benefits the publishers said would bring their total cost to $37 per week per man.

The printers' basic prestrike wage averaged $145 a week.

In a formal statement, the publishers association invited all newspaper unions "to join us in bringing to an end this prolonged period of strike." It expressed the hope that the agreement "will result in a contract and early resumption of publication."

On the question of automation, Bradford said the agreement provided for the use of outside Teletypesetter tape to set stock market tables.

Bradford said the agreement provides for "further study and discussion" and that if no agreement is reached with the union the question of teletypesetter tape will be submitted to arbitration.

In Cleveland, Ohio, where the two newspapers have been shut down by strikes for 99 days, the latest negotiations between striking printers and the publishers failed to budge either side.

The printers are considered the key union of the three on strike against the Plain Dealer and the Press & News. Two of the five unions which struck have reached contract settlements.

Management has offered the Cleveland printers a two-year contract providing for a package increase of $9 in wages and fringe benefits. The union demands $18.

Negotiations Fail Again At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 90-minute negotiating session between striking Printers and representatives of the city's two struck newspapers failed to budge either side from their positions Thursday night.

The Printers are considered the key union of the three on strike against the Plain Dealer and the Press & News, shut down for 99 days. Management has offered a two-year contract providing for a package increase totaling $9 in wages and fringe benefits. The union is demanding $18.

"No significant development" was the word from Clifford C. Hilpert, president of the Printers' local. The next meeting was set for 2:30 p. m. Monday.

A management spokesman said it was his feeling the strike would not end until a Printers' strike against four New York newspapers is settled.

"As far as we are concerned, there is no bearing between the two strikes," Hilpert claimed. "We'll settle when we get a good offer. Their side keeps bringing up the New York strike, but it's just not so."

dence, and to compel an "election between counts." The latter motion, in effect, asks that it be determined whether the federal government will prosecute on a "conspiracy" charge or the subsequent counts named in the indictments.

The defense has until Monday to file its first briefs in support of the motions entered yesterday, and the federal government has until Wednesday to file its briefs.

Thus far, the defense has requested and won approval for the federal government to return a bill of particulars, entered four motions, and can file briefs until Monday.

The trial date set March 25 is tentative, subject to the disposition of arguments on the motions and further matters, court said.

One indictment charges these defendants with eight violations: Charles F. Teemer, 63, of Hollywood, Fla., reputed owner of the Jockey Club; Joseph Pecora, 43, of Pittsburgh, identified by the FBI as its acting manager; Domenick Caputo, 58, of Hollywood, Fla., and Youngstown, Sidney Bahm, 54, of McKeesport, Joseph Tamburro, 50, Alex Zryni, and Paul A. Bello, 50, all of Steubenville.

Charged with one violation each are Peter Short, 57, of White Oak Borough, Pittsburgh, Dominic A. Bieno, 66, of Pittsburgh, Joseph Rizzo, 54, of Glassport, Louis Anzelone, 25, of Pittsburgh, and Abe Silverhart, 56, of Pittsburgh.

The club is located in the upstairs of the Club Paddock on Route 30 east of Chester. The federal agents forced their way in and seized two slot machines, a roulette wheel, dice tables, a blackjack layout and a large amount of cash and pledged jewelry. William M. Alexander, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office, led the raid.

All the defendants pleaded innocent to the two indictments.

3 Killed At Cleveland

As Cars Hit Head-On

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two cars collided head-on on a South Side bridge Thursday night, fatally injuring three persons and hospitalizing a fourth. All the dead were in one car.

Killed were Anthony L. Borgia, 46, of Maple Heights; his wife, Teresa, 44, and another passenger, Constance Mayes, 51, of Warrensville Heights. Borgia and the Mayes woman were killed outright. Mrs. Borgia died early today in Metropolitan General Hospital.

Reported in fair condition in the hospital was Borgia's daughter, Kathleen, 20.

Police said a westbound car struck the rear of a tractor-trailer it was attempting to pass and swerved into the other lane. The car then slammed head-on into the other auto.

Treated at Metropolitan General Hospital were Walter Jones, 24, driver of the other car, and Emanuel White, 37, both of Cleveland.

turbed by new "blue law" legislation.

Under the amendment, the proposed new law would not apply in a county unless the county's voters approved it in an election. And there wouldn't even be an election unless 10 per cent of the county's voters petitioned for it.

The House adopted several amendments lengthening the list of activities that would be legal on Sunday. Two of the more important additions were construction work and production and processing of natural resources.

Also permissible under the bill would be Sunday operation of grocery stores, restaurants, taverns, garages, filling stations, manufacturing plants and theaters. Sports events and other recreational activities also would be legal.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rear Adm. Peter Corradi said Thursday the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, is better defended now than it ever has been.

stockholders a letter explaining the offer from Yoder & Frey to purchase the 5,000 shares. That resulted in the transaction in which the Archbold concern acquired the plant.

The Archbold concern today denied unofficial reports that the plant already has been sold.

"We are trying to sell it as a going concern, but we have not sold it yet," a spokesman said. "We have some prospects, including a couple in the vitreous and semi-vitreous fields."

But if the plant is to be sold as an entity, "it will have to be soon," the company said. If the plant is not sold within a short time, Yoder & Frey will begin piecemeal sale of the equipment, the spokesman said.

Plans to liquidate Knowles first were announced last Sept. 5. Operations have been suspended almost entirely since Dec. 1.

The Knowles plant sits on a 10-acre riverfront site and has 356,

000 square feet of floor space. The plant has a capacity of 50,000 dozen pieces of dinnerware weekly.

At the time it was preparing to offer the plant at auction, Yoder & Frey issued a brochure to prospective purchasers asserting that the plant and equipment are worth $4.2 million.

PEANUT BUTTER vs. PEANUT SPREAD
Q. My children simply love peanut butter. Is it a good food?
A. Plain, old fashioned peanut butter, which contains nothing but roasted peanuts with a little added salt, is a highly nutritious, but hard to find, food. The old fashioned variety has a somewhat limited shelf-life and the oil tends to rise to the surface. To "improve the quality" of peanut butter, many manufacturers add various chemicals and hydrogenated oils (hydrogenation is a process which hardens an oil into a solid fat with good keeping qualities, but renders it less suitable as a food). Proposed food regulations would require a product containing less than 75 per cent peanuts to be labeled "imitation peanut butter." Manufacturers would object to this labeling and some have now switched to use of the term "peanut spread." If you want to avoid peanut butter containing a variety of questionable additives, examine the labels carefully before buying.
LOW-CHOLESTEROL DIETS
Q. Do medical scientists recommend mayonnaise as suitable for diets designed to control or lower cholesterol blood factors?
A. Many clinical investigators who have worked out diets for the control of serum cholesterol levels permit the use of mayonnaise. The composition of various brand-name mayonnaises probably varies quite widely and it is not unusual for the doctor to specify a brand known to contain suitable fats.

Auditor Gives Tax Alert

LISBON — Auditor Kenneth Bell reminded today that all individuals, partnerships, associations and corporations engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1962, such as manufacturers, merchants, contractors, farmer, lawyers, doctors, dentists and accountants, are required to file personal property tax returns with the auditor of the county in which their taxable property is located on or before April 30.

In addition to those actively engaged in business, every person who rents furnished rooms or apartments must file a tax return on the furniture, fixtures and equipment included in such rental facilities.

All residents of Ohio owning intangible property on Jan. 1, such as stocks, bonds, notes, debentures, municipal bonds, land contracts and other similar property, are also required to file personal property tax returns with the county auditor of the county in which they reside.

Mandatory penalties and additional charges apply to all returns filed after April 30. In 1962 there were more than 20,000 taxpayers in Ohio who did not file personal property tax returns as required. These taxpayers were obliged to pay substantial penalties and interest in addition to their required tax, Bell said.

The rate of tax on tangible personal property varies from locality to locality, according to need, and is identical with the tax rate on real estate and public utility property for the taxing district where the property is located.

Intangible property is taxed at various rates ranging from 2 mills on the dollar valuation for unproductive investments to 5 per cent of the income yield on productive investments.

All taxes collected are paid to the local county treasurer and are used for local schools, libraries, health, police and fire services. Forms may be obtained from the county auditor's office.

Ex-Airport Aide Says He Can Explain 'Loss'

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Fred L. Bailey, former manager of the Akron-Canton, Ohio, airport, says he can give a "satisfactory explanation of all discrepancies" in financial records at the airport. Bailey, who resigned last June—six days before an examiner's audit got under way—now is manager of Blue Cross Field here. The examiner's report, made public Thursday, listed missing property valued at $1,725, $856.74 in checks which cannot be accounted for and unauthorized purchases totaling $603 by credit card. "I have been aware of the pending allegations for several months and can give a satisfactory explanation of all discrepancies . . . if they care to contact me," Bailey said.

Workers Win 10-Cent Boost

A new two-year contract has been signed by the Ferro Corp. Porcelain Division Plant and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, granting pay boosts totaling 10 cents hourly to day wage workers. The pact affects 31 employees.

Under the agreement, the day wage workers will receive a 5-cent boost, effective next Monday, and another 5-cent hike March 11, 1964. Memorial Day was added to the list of paid holidays.

The contract also contains this provision on incentive and piecework rates: "Incentive and piecework rates of pay and base rates of pay used for calculating incentive rates shall not be increased. Should an employee not be able to make his incentive rate of pay, he will be paid at the new day-work rate of pay."

The Porcelain Division workers are represented by IBOP Local 163. The negotiations were handled by an IBOP committee headed by James Slaven, third vice president, and management spokesmen headed by Fred Layne and W. H. Corban, plant manager.

Keith Slated Speaker At Salineville

Bill Keith, Uhrichsville football coach, will be speaker for the Southern Local School District all-sports banquet Saturday night at 6:30 at Salineville High School. It was announced at a meeting of the Athletic Boosters Club Thursday night.

Some 140 are expected to attend the dinner at which awards will be given football and basketball players.

Lou Higginbotham, grid coach, reported over $6,000 has been obtained in cash and pledges in the drive for improvement of the field at the new high school. He said $3,600 in pledges and $1,852 in cash has been received in the February accounting.

Jack Baker, executive head, submitted an engineering report on the field at the new school. Jay Sutton of the Valley View Supply of North Canton discussed seeding of the field.

The executive board was authorized to investigate the possibility of purchasing some portable bleachers owned by Carrollton School District.

Robert Carter reported on the benefit basketball game between Wellsville and Salineville facilities tonight at Salineville.

About 28 attended the meeting at which Howard Adams, president, was in charge. Bill Tolson, treasurer, reported $870 in the general fund.

Cincinnati Uncertain On Sunday Sale Stand

CINCINNATI (AP)—Opening a store on Sunday has been a chancy proposition in Cincinnati for some time, but things are going to be really uncertain this weekend.

Not even city officials can agree on whether the Sunday closing laws will be enforced.

City Manager C. A. Harrell ordered officials Thursday to stop enforcing the law until the General Assembly takes some sort of action to clarify the law.

But the City Clerk's Office said they knew of no way to stop an individual citizen from filing a warrant charging a merchant with law violation.

The confusion began when Municipal Court Judge Gilbert Bettman advised the prosecutor not to bring any more charges until the law is clarified.

Bettman is a long-time critic of the present blue laws. Not all of his colleagues agree.

Syria

commander, Gen. Abdel Karim Zahraddin.

It was Syria's third military coup in 18 months.

Playing the same martial music that heralded the Iraqi revolt one month ago today, Damascus Radio trumpeted a call for "unity, freedom and socialism."

The same slogan became the cry of the army uprising that overthrew strongman Abdel Karim Kassem in Baghdad Feb. 8.

There was no quick way of telling whether the rebels were winning or losing inside Syria. They held Damascus and Aleppo radios and broadcast their communiques. But land, sea and air communications and telephone lines with Syria were shut off, and Damascus Radio ordered a curfew until further notice.

One communique broadcast from Damascus ordered all military commanders "not to carry out any order unless issued by the National Council of the Revolutionary Command." It threatened to deal severely with violations.

At 10:30 a.m., Damascus radio went off the air, indicating either a mechanical breakdown or a struggle for the upper hand in Damascus.

Before the shutdown, numerous cables from Syrian officers announcing support of the revolt were broadcast. There were no such messages from many of the country's strongest military garrisons—in Aleppo, Homs or Katana. Katana, probably the Syrian army's major base, is located near the Israeli border.

The rebels' early broadcasts gave the name of one of their leaders, Col. Abdullah Jabrini, who was named acting commander of internal security forces, perhaps the key job in the country. Jabrini is known as a Nasser supporter. He was associated with Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj, feared chief of Syrian intelligence before the 1958 union with Egypt and later Nasser's consul in Damascus.

The rebels gave the usual pledge to respect all of Syria's international agreements and to support the United Nations charter. They also espoused a policy of "positive neutrality."

The revolution's first communique called the September, 1961, coup that broke Syria away from the U.A.R. a "separatist disaster."

But there was no assurance that the rebel leaders aim for another complete union with Egypt. There were strong signs that the coup was engineered by the Arab "Baath" Socialist party, which masterminded the upheaval in Baghdad last month. The party believes in strong ties but not necessarily governmental union with Nasser's U.A.R. The trend in Iraq is toward a federation.

The revolutionary command said it "extends a hand to Cairo, Baghdad and San'a," the Yemeni Capital where a Nasser-backed revolutionary regime is in power. The same hand was extended to Algiers "and to all free people."

Observers in the Middle East had expected an outbreak in Syria since the Iraqi revolt. Four days ago Cairo Radio and Egypt's Middle East News Agency announced that Syrian army units on the Israeli frontier had mutinied and demanded that Syria reunite with Egypt. A few hours later official sources in Damascus labeled the report sheer fabrication.

Syria united with Egypt in March 1958 to form the United Arab Republic. The Egyptians took over the administration of the country and the country grew restive. In September 1961 an army officers' coup turned out the Egyptians and broke the union.

Road Aides Discuss Work

High priority to ice control, clearing culverts of debris and cleaning salt and cinders from bridge decks were discussed by supervisors and officials of the seven-county district.

Division Deputy Director Earl W. Nelson requested increased planning and management at the county level in order to make most efficient use of personnel it was reported.

Whitehouse, of Bacon Ave., Republican president of Council at East Palestine, is a former potter and employee of the county highway department before joining the state system.

He replaces James DeLuce of Salem, who was shifted to the bridges division of the district office.

City Car Demolished In Brighton Mishap

An East Liverpool man's auto was virtually demolished Thursday afternoon in New Brighton after striking a parked auto, New Brighton police said.

Officers said Robert Herbert Bryan, 132 Drury Ln., was driving on 3rd Ave. when an apparent mechanical failure or blowout caused his auto to strike the parked auto of Fred Kuppinger.

A section of Bryan's fender flew about 20 feet through the air and 30 feet high to break a second-floor window at the Kuppinger home, police said. They estimated approximately $1,000 damage to Bryan's auto and $200 to the Kuppinger car.

Interpretation Of Theology Among New Library Books

Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said springboards to spiritual insight abound in recent additions at the Carnegie Public Library.

Dr. Addison H. Leitch, for many years on the staff of two Pittsburgh seminaries, pens a volume which deals with basic questions — Who is God? Why Christ? What is man's relationship to God? What is the significance of the sacraments?

The title of this book is "Interpreting Basic Theology." A layman, Howard McGinnis, has compiled a factual study of the Hebrew people as they are portrayed in the books of the Old Testament. Quoting from the language of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, the author titles this book, "Know Your Bible Better." A third volume, "How to Succeed In the Christian Life," was originally published in 1906 but its teachings are so sure and true that it has been reprinted several times. The author, R.A. Torrey, was a Moody Bible Institute lecturer.

Two volumes will lend assistance to the program planner: "Meditations on New Testament Symbols" is a book of devotions for women's groups — the author, Helen Kingsbury Wallace, "Famous Hymns and Their Writers," by Michael Davis, provides background material about the composer and his inspiration for 50 beloved melodies.

A detailed biography of a renowned Catholic churchman is related by Fr. Robert I. Gannon in "The Cardinal Spellman Story." The son of a small - town New England grocer hobnobbed with leaders from many lands, but his abiding quality has been a warm love of people and of travel.

A middle - aged minister descends from the pulpit in "The Reverend Goes to Hollywood." The author, Charles Evans, has appeared in 150 movies. The lighter side of churchmen is also emphasized in Taylor Caldwell's "Grandmother and the Priests."

Two novels which are set in ancient days will deserve the attention of historical fiction fans: Eric Lanklater writes "The Husband of Delilah," dissecting the character of Sampson with all the thoroughness which should be expected from a Scottish novelist, but also revealing the ribald humor and the romance of this famous affair. "The Golden Lyre," by Noel Gerson, tells of the love affair between Ptolemy, Alexander's right - hand man and Thais, a courtesan whose wit and learning brought her fame and fortune.

A pair of books, one a novel and the other a journalist's adventure, report the trials of the Negro at this juncture of history.

In "Black Lake Me," John Griffin dyes his skin black and travels through our South experiencing and then reporting intimately on what it is like to live the life of an American Negro, and Daphne Rooke writes intensely about the problem of the Afrikaner of South Africa in "The Greyling."

Most Men Observe Hearing Loss At 32, Report Discloses

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Mr. Average Male, just past his 32nd birthday, sits down at the breakfast table with his wife as usual. She casually asks if he would like sliced bananas on his cereal. He continues reading his newspaper in silence.

"What's the matter with you?" she cries in exasperation. "Why don't you answer me?"

"Well, why don't you speak up?" he retorts, not aware yet that people, especially females with high-pitched voices, will have to talk a little louder from now on for him to hear them as well.

And, studies by a St. Louis psychologist indicate, the average male will lose more of his hearing at about age 50 and suffer a third drop in hearing acuity when he reaches the 59-65 age bracket.

Dr. John F. Corso, Ph. D., drew his conclusions on hearing loss with advancing age from a study of 912 men and women who had been exposed to a minimum of industrial noise and were presumed to have normal hearing.

Writing in the current Archives of Environmental Health, published by the American Medical Association, he said a diminution in hearing acuity becomes noticeable able in men at age 32 and in women at age 37.

Marked changes in the hearing of men, he said, occur on the average in steps of about 15 years. In women, he added, the changes are more gradual, with deterioration fairly uniform.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I would like to tell your readers that we have been working with starched products for some 10 years and were particularly interested in your comments on starching.

As you stated . . . washer starching is the fastest, most economical way to starch, if one has lots of starchable laundry.

You mentioned having received many letters asking for help on starch spotting.

WE'VE FOUND that starch spotting most often occurs for the following reasons:

1. A sufficient amount of starch solution is not prepared to completely cover and saturate the clean, damp items to be starched (this is particularly true in hand starching).

2. Lumpy starch — improper preparation.

3. The starch solution and water are not mixed well.

4. Dampened articles (starched and dried) are not allowed to stand long enough to permit even distribution of moisture before ironing.

5. Uneven starching — all too often a homemaker wishing a heavy starch finish on heavy weight fabric (such as denim or khaki) uses too heavy concentration.

6. Some fabrics are inherently hard to finish with or without starch (particularly some rayons, linens, and dark cottons); they should be ironed when damp (right for ironing) rather than dry.

the usual procedure of drying, sprinkling and then ironing!

WITH REFERENCE to dryer drying of starch loads: if clothes are tumbled beyond the storage dry stage, some starch will be removed from the dried clothes.

We have found, if at all convenient to do so, the homemaker will save herself time and money if she removes the starched load from the dryer when right for ironing, place in damp towel or piece of plastic and iron at once or set aside for ironing later.

By this method she saves herself the need for redampening, the time of waiting for the sprinkled clothes to be evenly damp, and use less fuel for operation of her dryer.

STARCH THAT is sprayed on is expensive but to the homemaker who places a premium on convenience and her time, it's hard to beat.

1. You can spray and iron a portion of the article at a time. Most "starchables" adapt easily to the spray method, even some you might not expect.

Khakis — a light, even spray gives a medium stiffness. Spray and iron again if heavy stiffness is desired. (Caution: If the spray is too heavy, the starch will not penetrate as well and will "flake off" when ironed!)

Bedspreads, tablecloths, slipcovers, and other bulky items can be starched more economically with hot starch but they finish wonderfully well with this method too.

2. You can spray dry articles completely — roll up — unroll and iron at once.

Smaller articles, and especially those made from light weight fabrics are "naturals" for this method. It gives the starch a moment to distribute more evenly and penetrate the fabric better.

Blouses, skirts, play clothes, sport shirts — try this method one: strong colored dacron-cottons and other light-weight blends; solid color cottons—keep the spray fine and even; dark colors—spray and iron these from the wrong side—of course!

3. You can spray damp-dried articles completely too, roll up and iron immediately, or put aside for ironing later.

SOME FABRICS streak readily with any starch and are always difficult to finish. Perhaps this method will help when difficulties arise.

Dresses — solid color linens and rayons; keep the spray light to avoid excessive stiffness. If "ironing lines" occur, brush with a damp cloth and touch up.

4. You can hang special items on a line to spray.

Petticoats — try hanging these on a line to spray starch. When dry, touch up with a steam iron if necessary.

Partial starching — Want crisp collars and cuffs only? Spray the wrong side and then the right side! Then iron—first your wrong side and finish on the right side.

No-iron net curtains — Hang these on a line, too, and spray starch. When dry touch up with a steam iron if necessary.

Travel touch-up? As you steam press, try very light spray of starch to remove creases and to crisp up collars and cuffs.

Illness And Mishaps Hit Hookstown Family

It's been a lousy week for the Laughlins of Hookstown.

Todd Laughlin, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laughlin, got the measles and a cold, and the family had to have a vaporizer steamed up for him.

Thursday morning Andrews, 2, got his thumb caught in a washing machine wringer, and had to be taken to the hospital.

And with him went his mother, who burned her forearm on the hot vaporizer Tuesday and discovered the burn had become infected.

Woodrow Wilson was the first president to hold a press conference as we understand the term today.

'Quiet, Please!'

Intelligence Remarks Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Mahon's plea that public officials keep quiet about American intelligence activities was welcomed news to President Kennedy, and many members of Congress agreed "silence is golden."

The President, it was learned today, was immensely pleased when aides showed him news wire accounts of the Texas Democrat's speech Thursday on the House floor. There was good reason to believe Kennedy began making plans to grab the ball Mahon tossed into the air.

White House sources said, however, that the congressman acted on his own initiative, that Kennedy had no foreknowledge of the blistering attack on loose talk.

Mahon, chairman of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, said "officials in Moscow, Peking and Havana must applaud our stupidity in announcing publicly facts which they would gladly spend huge sums of money endeavoring to obtain."

He gave no specific examples and said the executive branch and the legislative, Republican and Democrats alike, "must share the blame" for "making us the laughing stock of the world."

There was an immediate chorus of amens on Capitol Hill.

At the same time, Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said he had called on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to tell the American people whether Soviet ships recently reported en route to Cuba to remove Soviet troops actually were carrying missiles to the island.

In expressing agreement with Mahon, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said: "I feel that there's too much intelligence given out." And Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told a reporter: "All should heed the admonition that silence is the golden rule of intelligence."

On the House side, Mahon's assertion that "the present situation is outrageous and intolerable" brought a bipartisan plea to try to stop the tongue-wagging as far as Congress is concerned.

"I hope that during these confused times members of Congress will be particularly careful about what they say," said Rep. Frances Bolton, R-Ohio.

In his speech, Mahon called on Kennedy, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., to "coordinate a course of action for the purpose of halting the rapid erosion of our national intelligence effort."

"Today's headlines may cost the lives of the human sources of information," Mahon said. "The enemy can find our intelligence sources much more easily when he knows what we have found out. This knowledge helps to pinpoint the location of intelligence activities, and once knowing the location, the discovery of the means is much easier and intelligence sources dry up."

Various administration officials have repeatedly expressed the view that, because this is a democracy where government secrets are suspect, there is a tendency to make public too much information that could be helpful to a potential enemy.

Any curbing of public discussion of intelligence activities might serve to quiet the continuing controversy about the effectiveness of intelligence operations involving Soviet moves in Cuba.

In addition, the administration might use Mahon's speech as a new lever to employ in discouraging government employees from giving certain kinds of information to newsmen.

the meeting to proceed rather than to bar it.

"To forbid on such short notice the appearance of this speaker would serve to make a martyr of him—precisely what he probably would welcome."

Court Action Filed In OSU Speaker Ban

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—President Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State University and two other university officials have been named in a civil rights suit as a result of a controversy over campus speakers.

Filing the action in U.S. District Court here Thursday were two students and Frank Wilkinson, executive director of the National Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Wilkinson was barred from speaking on the Ohio State campus last December by Fawcett's order, reviving a controversy that has flared at the university over the past few years.

The suit seeks to enjoin Fawcett and other school officials from enforcing two university rules which, in effect, give Fawcett the last word on who can or cannot deliver lectures on university grounds.

Besides Fawcett, the suit also names as defendants the university board of trustees; Forrest G. Ketner, chairman of the board, and Ronald B. Thompson, dean of special services.

Joining Wilkinson in filing the suit were Niki Schwartz of Columbus, a law student, and Louis J. Tornatzky of Cleveland, a student in the college of arts and sciences. They said the suit was filed as a "class" action on behalf of a campus group, Students for Liberal Action.

The suit asserts that the university rules dealing with suitability of campus speakers are illegal and in violation of the First and 14th amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

Ex-Newman Heckled In Cincinnati Speech

CINCINNATI (AP) — Former newsman Carl Braden's visit to the University of Cincinnati campus caused an uproar Thursday, but university officials feel this was better than making Braden appear a martyr.

Braden, who served a jail term for refusing to answer questions to the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was jeered by part of his audience of 150 and police arrived to keep order. He called for the end of segregation and abolition of the committee.

Some students picketed outside the student union where Braden spoke at the invitation of the Students for Constitutional Freedom.

Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of the university, issued a statement saying the student group "went about arranging for its meeting and speaker so quietly that it did not come to the administration's attention until late Wednesday afternoon."

"Although the administration is as strongly opposed as possible to having a speaker of this type appear on the campus, it seemed better at this late date to allow

Cold Caused Bud Damage

The hard winter has damaged buds of rhododendron plants — West Virginia's state flower—and little flowering of shrubs is expected this spring, according to Hancock County Agricultural Agent Oliver Johnson.

"We will see the effects of the big winter showing up in other plants this spring," Johnson declared.

An inspection of peach trees reveals blossom buds are "dry and powdery and show little signs of life," Johnson said. "If your peach trees are getting too tall and need a heavy cutting back, this would be the year to do it," he added.

"The month of March is ideal for pruning peaches and grapes. I found an unusual amount of winter-killed wood on the grapes. That means there won't be any more wood left than needed to make a crop," the agent in New Cumberland continued.

"Winter set in before my roses were mounded, so most of my hybrid teas are killed down to the graft. There is much of the wood killed on the ramblers, as well as barking injury by rabbits," Johnson reported.

Johnson also suggested that orders be placed early by those needing replacement stock. Plants may be shipped within the state without permits after April 1, resulting from removal of the Japanese beetle quarantine. Permits will still be required for shipping plants out of the state. All inquiries are to be addressed to Alvy E. Tuston, plant pest control inspector, Box 1415, Clarksburg.

Vinegar usually is produced from the apple.

Menotti's 'Labyrinth' Analyzes Life

The longest shaggy dog story ever perpetrated upon the unwary listener concerned the adventures of a man in search of the meaning of life. This almost endless, labyrinthine anecdote brought the truth seeker finally to the feet of a most imperious mystic on a mountaintop in Tibet.

"My son," Alan Gill, the old man told him, "life is a fountain."

The ragged, exhausted pilgrim exploded with rage. What did this holy man think he was pulling off here? Life is a fountain, indeed!

"You mean," the holy man replied to the tirade, his mouth hanging open in wonder, "life isn't a fountain?"

LAST SUNDAY afternoon, one of the world's foremost composers, Gian Carlo Menotti, exposed us to his latest opera, "Labyrinth," written especially for television and performed by the NBC Opera Company; and in it Menotti settled this "life" business once and for all. Life isn't a fountain, it's a grand hotel.

Now I don't know whether Mr. Menotti still thinks so a few days after the event. It well may be that he has had a cocktail party chat with a mystically inclined Bennington girl and that he has been set straight.

"You mean," I can hear Menotti saying "life isn't a grand hotel?"

ANYHOW, for a few minutes (about 45) last Sunday, Menotti's Bride and Groom (representing Us) were ordered to find some meanings in a mad, mad, mad, mad world.

The composer himself, at the request of his producers, prefaced the opera with a few words of explanation. The Old Chess Player, he said, was the past; the Astronaut was the future; the Hotel Director was death; etc.

He was spilling these beans, he said, so that we would be able to sit back and listen to the music without worrying eternally about what this or that meant. A good idea.

Then the action began. A Bride and her Groom are lost in the corridors of a grand hotel. Their key is missing.

"ARE YOU SURE you had a key?" she asks.

"Well, yes," he says, ransacking his pockets, "it seems to me that as a child I had a key."

They have encounters with a bellboy who winks and a spy who slinks, an old man who plays chess, a female executive manager who is officiously busy at every moment, and an Astronaut who floats in space in his room.

These people are something less than helpful to the Groom. (Menotti, after all, calls his opera "a musical riddle.") The Bellboy moves his lips frantically but no sound comes out.

The Spy confides in him: "If in passing I should drop in your lap a coded letter, please don't lose your self-control; pick it up and swallow it whole."

THE OLD MAN SAYS: "Hold your breath and count till 10, then blow your nose as hard as you can) the hiccup will stop and come out of your eye; the better it is the sooner you try." Etc.

There is a murder. The Bride and Groom flee, become separated, and never again find one another. After a nightmarish flight and a brief idyll in a flooded train (yes, a flooded train) the Groom - tattered and weary as the shaggy dog man reaching the Tibetan mountaintop - winds up in the hotel director's office.

"Ha ha ha ha," says the Director. "Just lie down here and have no fear."

And, giving the Groom a room key, the Director and his Lackey swiftly build a coffin around him; and, like a pair of horror-movie morticians, they carry the coffin off.

But it has no bottom. The Groom is left behind. He smiles. In his hand is the key.

DEATH, Menotti is telling us enigmatically, is the key to life.

He directed his own opera with a nice pace and the right humor. His cast sang and acted well. The Bride's lament for her childhood home ("Oh, how far, how far my evening hills—") had a deeply touching melody; the Old Man's prattling monologue was pathetically funny; the celestial music that accompanied the Astronaut's invitation to "fly, fly into space with me" was appropriately weightless.

Was "Labyrinth" a satisfying hour? I don't know. I'd like to hear—see—it again.

U.S. Steel Plant Due To Resume Next Week

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The U. S. Steel Corp. announced Thursday six open hearth steel making furnaces will resume production Sunday at its Edgar Thomson Works in nearby Braddock.

The firm said the plant's 44-inch universal slabbing mill will start rolling steel next Tuesday. The slabs will be shipped to its Irwin Works, which makes hot and cold rolled sheets for the auto and appliance industries.

U. S. Steel said an increase in orders as anticipated was the reason for the resumption in production.

FBI Chief Urges Citizens Be Vigilant

Red Spy Has No Standard Profile

By JOHN EDGAR HOOVER
Director,
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Copyright 1963.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP) — In this season of the Soviet spy — when the United States is espionage target No. 1 of Moscow — we might ask, "Who is a Soviet spy?" "What does he look like?" "Does he have a profile?"

Many people, undoubtedly, have a definite image of a spy — perhaps a good-looking, Mata Hari type, ready to romantically deceive, or a dire-faced fellow, in a long coat, racing up and down an alley.

Nothing could be further from the truth — for the profile of a Soviet spy today is that he has no profile! By this I mean it is not possible to set up any composite picture — because he is so different, so varied.

Here is his great danger to our national security!

The spy may be old or young, man or woman, of any national background. He may be highly educated or illiterate; he may be a doctor, dentist, stenographer, military man, government worker, scientist or of any trade or profession; he may be highly trained as a spy or a neophyte; he may live in a cheap boarding house with no money in his pocket or reside in a swanky home.

Harry Gold was a rather undistinguished chemist from Philadelphia. His contact, Klaus Fuchs — who furnished data about America's most valuable secret of World War II, the atomic bomb — was a highly competent, well-educated scientist. Another Gold contact, David Greenglass, though not a scientist, was in an Army assignment at Los Alamos which enabled him to sketch the lens mold of the atomic bomb. Then there was David's wife, Ruth. She didn't actually commit espionage, but she helped solicit her husband to do his evil work.

A typist, a file clerk or a charwoman — any person who has access to coveted industrial and scientific documents — can be valuable to the Russians.

In one instance the Soviets developed a technical librarian in an industrial firm. Who else would have so many secrets at her fingertips? The Russians even furnished cameras to clandestinely photograph documents.

While the FBI was investigating the Col. Rudolf Abel espionage case, we ran across the code name of "Quebec." Here was a Russian agent. Who was he? Our investigation focused on an Army sergeant previously assigned to the American Embassy in Moscow. Compromised by a Russian girl in Moscow with whom he had an affair, this man became involved in espionage.

Then, like Col. Abel, there are deep-cover Soviet spies — native Russians, professionally trained in espionage, who enter the United States under false identification papers. Col. Abel, for example, posed as a photographer with a studio on the fifth floor of a Brooklyn building. He was an ordinary-looking fellow who would never command a second glance if you passed him on the street — yet he was a master Soviet spy.

After his arrest, the FBI found that his studio and hotel room were virtual museums of espionage equipment — cipher pads, shortwave radios, equipment for producing microdots. Located also were containers, such as coins, shaving brushes, tie clasps, which had been hollowed out for the purpose of secreting espionage messages.

This lack of a standard profile for a Soviet spy — his apparent anonymity and propensity to be of many types — increases the task of the FBI.

But, based on our experience, we have learned his habits, his methods of operation — how to identify and counteract him. That is our job as professional investigators.

You, the citizen, can do much to help us:

1. Report promptly any information you possess concerning espionage, sabotage and subversive activities.
2. Even if the information may seem insignificant or nonpertinent report it anyway. Many times a small piece of data, when placed with information we already possess, can solve an important case.
3. Report the facts. The FBI is not interested in rumor, gossip or idle talebearing.
4. Do not try to conduct your own investigation. The job of countering Soviet intelligence is a task for the trained investigator.
5. Be constantly alert.

Not long ago a photographer called the FBI. He said he wanted to report some information. On the basis of this call we were able to identify a Russian diplomat who, operating under an alias, was trying clandestinely to secure a special high altitude aerial map of New York City of a type not commercially available — a map which could have been of prime military value to the Russians.

This photographer's vigilance paid high dividends.

This is the season of the Soviet spy.

RUTH COX TURNER, President

Dictator May Fall

Uprising Feared
In Tense Haiti

By RICHARD MASSOCK
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — An explosion is building up under Haitian President Francois Duvalier, voodooistic dictator of this land of grinding poverty. If anti-Communist Haitians don't bring him down, diplomats believe the Communists eventually will take over.

Outwardly, the bespectacled Duvalier, 58, a medical doctor, appears to rule firmly in defence of his enemies and the United States' official disapproval of his government.

But under the tense calm of graveyard peace visitors feel the pulse of growing discontent that threatens to make Haiti, only 50 miles across the Windward Passage from Fidel Castro's Cuba, the next storm center of the Caribbean.

Some residents say Duvalier may fall within a few months. They talk of May 15-22 as a crucial week. His first presidential term expires May 15 under the constitution. His opponents don't recognize a rigged election in 1961 that extended his time in office until 1967.

Leaflets of the underground National Democratic Union declare its aim is to overthrow Duvalier in 1963. Foreign observers have not succeeded in tracing UDN's ramifications, but they suspect it is organized and financed by Haitian exiles.

Dread of Duvalier's "bogeymen," his private militia, makes Haitians fearful of talking. These armed partisans are called "Tonton Macoutes," after the bogeyman of Haitian folklore who is supposed to go about the countryside at night putting bad children in a sack on his back.

The cubbers discussed summer-time activities for back yards.

Ohio Accepts
Guard Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has accepted reorganization of the Ohio National Guard as proposed last December by the Defense Department, Adj. Gen. Erwin C. Hosteller says.

Hosteller said Thursday at the governor's press conference that the Ohio Guard will be authorized to reach a strength of 15,287 Army Guardsmen with emphasis on combat and combat - support type organization.

Under the new troop list, Hosteller said, Ohio will lose only 207 men and will be left with three brigades and one engineer group, all of about the same strength.

Ohio will retain its 37th Infantry Division, the 107th Armored Cavalry Regiment and one of two existing air defense groups at Dayton. The present air defense group in Cleveland will be eliminated.

Two new infantry battalions and a combat engineer group will be created, Hosteller said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My spinster sister made a deathbed promise to mama that she never would be put in a nursing home. Without asking me, my sister said I would take her to live with me. That was six years ago when mama was 83. Today she is almost 90.

Sister's promise was a safe one because no nursing home would take our mother. She belongs in a mental institution. Father left her a substantial inheritance from which she has been drawing interest for 23 years. She has not spent one dime of her own money since father died. She is saving it "for her old age."

My husband and I are going broke keeping nurses in our home around the clock. Mama can't be left alone for a minute and I haven't the strength to be with her more than eight hours a day. Even with nurses on duty she has set fire to the mattress twice.

Is this fair when mama has money of her own? She keeps saying she's going to leave all her money to a horse she sees on TV. It would not surprise me if she did. Please advise.—MARY.

Dear Mary: You need a lawyer and I hope you get one fast. It is not fair for you and your husband to go broke caring for your mother when she has an income of her own.

People who put money away for a rainy day sometimes have to be told it's raining.

Another Loser

Dear Ann: I was a booze fighter when I met Wilma—and the booze was winning. I had lost three good jobs because of my drinking. Wilma helped me off the juice and onto the wagon. I was gone dry for 17 months—then Friday night it happened.

The office manager's wife had a baby girl after four boys. He was out of his mind with joy. He ordered up three bottles of Scotch and invited everyone in the office to celebrate with him. I couldn't refuse to have just one—sort of a toast to the little princess.

You can guess the rest. I blew a dinner date with Wilma. In fact, I didn't even remember we had a date until 2 a.m. Then I telephoned her. She slammed the receiver on my ear and took the phone off the hook.

Today I got my ring back by special messenger. Please help me.—SAD AND SORRY.

Dear Sad: When will guys like you learn that one drink is too many and isn't enough?

I can suggest only that you go to Wilma and beg her to forgive you. With a record of 17 months of sobriety she may give you another chance.

P.S.: To Wilma. Please give the guy a break.

Not So Dumb

Dear Ann: We raised our niece right along with our own children. Clara's parents died when she was 9 and we treated her as if she were our daughter.

Last May she married a young man who is pleasant but brainless. He has a steady job at a mill and makes good money.

My husband and I own a little grocery store. Every Friday without fail Clara and her husband come to the store and fill up two or three large shopping bags with whatever they need. Clara says, "Thanks a lot," and they drive off.

Is it possible they don't know we have to pay for our merchandise? I just can't believe it, but since they're both pretty stupid that may be the answer.

My husband is fed up with this weekly ritual. Would it be petty if we came right out and told them how we feel? As I said she is like a daughter to us.—DWINDLING INVENTORY.

Dear Dwindling: Tell these moochers they can have whatever they need at the price YOU paid for it. This is a much better deal than they can get elsewhere.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Officers Cite Driver After Minor Collision

A truck driver was cited for lack of an operator's permit after a minor collision Thursday at 12:04 p. m. on Jefferson St. 40 feet south of W. 4th St., police said.

The citation was given Richard Grier, 28, of 1041 Riverview St. after a mishap that involved a 1962 model truck he was operating and a 1955 sedan driven by William T. Clark, 20, of 326 Norton St., officers said. Grier was driving a truck owned by the Tri-State News Agency, 217 Union St.

Grier told police he was driving south on Jefferson St. when Clark pulled from a parking spot at the curb and hit his truck.

There was damage to the left front fender and bumper of the auto and the right door and side of the truck, police said.

Pleading guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Grier was fined $10 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of $7.50 costs. He showed the judge a new permit he obtained after the citation was issued.

Polio Program For Ohio Valley Reset April 21

The Ohio Valley's third Sabin Sunday program has been postponed from March 17 to April 21 because of widespread flu-type illnesses and uncertain spring weather.

Participating in this area will be Hancock County in West Virginia and Jefferson County in Ohio.

A joint meeting of physicians from seven Ohio Valley counties was held to reach agreement on the postponement.

The Type III oral polio vaccine will be offered at the same clinics and during the same hours—11 a. m. to 5 p. m.—as in the two "Sabin Sunday" programs in the past.

One of Jefferson County's clinics will be at Stanton Local High School in Hammondsville. The Hancock County Health Department building in New Cumberland will serve as the clinic for New Cumberland, Chester and Newell area residents.

In postponing the third Sabin program, the physicians said that if a person would have a respiratory infection, there would be no harm in taking the vaccine unless the recipient had a high temperature.

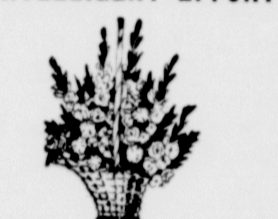

It was the consensus of opinion that with many Ohio Valley residents afflicted or recovering from flu, a better turnout would be realized by holding the mass clinics April 21.

Thousands received the Type I and Type II dosages earlier this year.

Nixon Hits Kennedy For 'Failures' In Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon has fired a salvo at the Kennedy administration for lack of air cover in the abortive 1961 Cuban invasion.

The former vice president, in a taped television show, said he "could not imagine" former President Dwight D. Eisenhower not providing such air cover. Nixon advocated an oil blockade of Cuba.

Saying President Kennedy has been subjected to some unfair criticism on the invasion, Nixon added: "I think he was wrong in another respect. I think he was wrong, once we committed our power, in not seeing it through and finishing the job."

"And when the suggestion is made that President Eisenhower may or may not have planned air cover, I would only suggest this: I cannot imagine the general, who planned the greatest invasion in history, the invasion of Normandy, allowing those 1,500 brave Cubans to go in the Bay of Pigs there without having first destroyed the enemy air power or providing air cover."

Nixon's appearance on the Jack Paar show was taped last Sunday in New York for showing tonight on NBC-TV. But the program was shown first Thursday night on CTV in Toronto, a Canadian commercial network.

Nixon called for "a political, diplomatic, economic and military quarantine of Cuba, of communism in Cuba."

Newsday, a Long Island daily newspaper, reported Thursday that last Tuesday during an off-the-record speech at Garden City, N.Y., Nixon advocated an oil blockade of Cuba in recommending a four-point U.S. policy toward Cuba. His four points: removal of all Russian troops, on-site inspection of missile installations, an end to foreign aid to nations which trade with Cuba and a partial blockade to stop all oil shipments to the island.

Nixon repeated those assertions on the television program.

Republicans who have criticized the President about Cuba "will join in a bipartisan support of any strong action that President Kennedy will take to remove the Communist cancer," Nixon said.

He referred to the possibility of strong U.S. action in Cuba angering some neutral nations.

"My answer is this: That we've got to run American foreign policy from the standpoint of the United States of America and the defense of freedom throughout the world, and we shouldn't take a vote of popularity of the neutrals and the other nations of the world and let our policy be only what the weak and timid will approve," he said.

Nixon, in Chicago on Thursday, held his first news conference since immediately after his November defeat in California's gubernatorial election.

Nixon told the newsmen he plans a number of speaking appearances next fall and said he "will support and campaign enthusiastically for the Republican candidate, whoever he may be."

Nixon listed the leading candidates for the GOP presidential nomination as New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, and Michigan Gov. George Romney. "In my view one of the four will be nominated. Rockefeller is the front runner today—the polls show that."

When Paar asked Nixon, "Can Kennedy be defeated in '64?" He replied: "Which Kennedy?"

Kuzma's Magic Works...

Back in November when all this basketball business started, Hank Kuzma could only put up one finger when someone would ask him how many lettermen he had.

Bill Sallis was the only member returning from the 1961-62 squad which went on to compile the first undefeated season in Midland High School's basketball history.

The first time we saw Midland this season was against East Liverpool and the Leopards managed to nip the Potters in an overtime.

The Midland five was shabby. It didn't look like much of a team as Hank tried a host of combinations. But Kuzma took the bull by the horns and came up with a well drilled club. It took a lot of hard work on the part of the Midland players, who even answered the call to practice on Sunday.

Twenty-four games later Midland has found itself winning 22 contests.

The main factors for the Kuzma lads has been the development of three sophomores.

Here are three kids who had no other experience except junior high basketball before this year, but they have come on to become the standouts.

They are Norman Vanlier, who Kuzma calls his quarterback, for he does a good job of controlling the tempo of the game, Sim Hill and Ron Brown.

Vanlier and Hill usually see more action than Brown, but when he is in the game he turns in a good effort.

THE END could come for Midland Saturday night when the Leopards go up against Aliquippa.

Midland has lost two games this season and one was to Aliquippa. But the contest was played on the Aliquippa floor and the difference was 10 points, 54-44, which as they say in basketball, is the number of points a club spots a team on its home floor.

We thought Midland looked better Wednesday night in its quarter-final victory over Mt. Lebanon than any Midland team has looked at the fieldhouse.

Kuzma, who strives for perfection, felt his team played a good game but was quick to add it wasn't their best. Maybe the best will come Saturday night.

Kiggans Excels In Classroom...

BOB KIGGANS, who wound up the season as a starter for The Citadel, also starred in the classroom. The former Wellsville standout has been named to the dean's list at the military school.

Bob worked his way up to a starting position in the last part of the season and in a game with Memphis State led the team in rebounding and scoring, netting 15 points.

He has been deadly from the foul line. In the Memphis State game he made 5 for 5 and in a previous contest went 6 for 6. For the season, Kiggans, a sophomore, tallied 171 points.

Owens Rolls 11 Strikes...

ERNIE OWENS soared to a 278 game in the Tri-State Classic League this week and will receive an ABC award for eleven strikes in a row. Ernie started with a split and a total of eight pins in the first frame.

He then proceeded to knock over 11 in a row. After the 11th strike, which concluded the game, some of his fellow bowlers asked him to throw an extra ball to see if he could get the 12th strike. And sure enough he did!

His award from ABC either will be a belt buckle or a sterling silver membership card, whichever he chooses.

George Simballa, league secretary, said he never had seen the award in East Liverpool before.

This 'N That In Sports...

WE UNDERSTAND that Bob Shaw, an assistant coach under Tony Mason at Niles, has a good shot at the head football job at Salem. Shaw has been end coach for the Dragons.

THE CHESTER High basketball team will be honored Saturday March 16 with a banquet at the Masonic Temple, beginning at 6:30.

'This Boy Likes To Mix, He Will Go In 6'—Clay

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Can Cassius fight like he can write?

That was a burning question to-day in Greenwich Village, still rocking from the invasion of Cassius Marcellus Clay, the self-proclaimed next heavyweight champion of the world.

The decision is still out on the poetry reading contest in a Village coffee house, where Clay was pitted against a group of beatnik poets running heavy to beards and drooping black stockings.

It appeared to boil down to whether as a fighter Clay is a pretty good poet, or whether as a poet he is a pretty good fighter.

Clay invaded a coffee house deep in the wilds of the Village, to read an ode or two and call attention to his 10-round fight next Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden against Doug Jones.

"This boy likes to mix," "He will go in six," quoth Cassius, as a warmup.

He made the scene—a dungeon where there are at least 14 guitars for every person—at lunch time, just as a collection of beats, sports writers and other social outcasts were devouring a repast of cold slaw and chicken wings off paper plates.

A well-shaped young lady with eyes the color of fragile china and a matted mess of greasy brown hair read a poem dedicated to Cassius.

He responded by reading his poem, dedicated to Cassius.

Being a boy with an eye to the future, he wound up this way: "Marcellus vanquished Carthage, Cassius laid Julius Caesar low."

"And Clay will flatten Douglas Jones with a mighty, measured blow."

"So when the gong rings and the referee sings out 'The Winner!'"

"Sonny Liston will fall," "And Cassius Marcellus Clay will be the noblest Roman of them all."

When he finished, there were few dry eyes in the house. It was pretty smoky in there.

Vikings Lose Tournament Contest At Foul Line To Williamstown

BY BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

ST. MARY'S—The Newell High Vikings played the final game in the school's history here Thursday night, but they made it a good one before bowing out of the Region 1-A tournament on a 69-65 loss to defending state champion Williamstown.

Some 1,000 fans saw the Vikings stage a dramatic rally in the closing minutes after entering the fourth quarter trailing by 10 points.

Williamstown brought a 21-1 mark into the tournament, but never came any closer to losing its second game of the season than last night.

Newell scrapped all the way, but just didn't seem to have that little extra to move in front of the Yellowjackets.

FOLLOWING the contest, John Robinson, who winds up a basketball coaching career at Newell, which extends back to the 1942-43 season when he became head mentor, was very satisfied with his team's performance.

"We fought good out there tonight and battled all the way. The boys don't have to be ashamed of their performance," the veteran mentor said. The Vikings wound up their final season before joining a consolidation next year with a 19-4 record.

NEWELL was beaten at the foul line last night, especially in the first half when Williamstown had the better of the personal foul calls.

The Vikings showed a wide margin of five more field goals, 27-22, but Williamstown proved an accurate bunch from the free throw stripe, sinking 25 of 32. Newell made 11 of 21.

Other than early in the first period, Newell never led in the game, but kept coming back to stay in striking distance most of the evening.

THE VIKINGS' overall balance stuck out again like a sore thumb as four starters were back in the double figures. Sam Simmons, the 6-3 junior, proved a clever man in the pivot and did some neat faking that left several Williamstown defenders looking silly at times.

Simmons, hitting all of his points out of the pivot, scored 18 to lead the Vikings, while guards Jim Johnson and Terry Robinson were at their best in hitting for 14 markers apiece and sparked the fourth-quarter surge.

Fred Ferrell, who made Newell's first six points on three straight field goals before missing, wound up with 11. Tom Franczek, who wasn't his consistent self last night, wound up with four points, while the No. 1 substitute, Denny Smith, added four.

NEWELL went up against a Williamstown team which had two regulars back from last year's championship squad and the two proved to be the most damaging as they combined for 45 points.

All-State Doug Stanley, a 6-1 cager, tallied 21 points, but his running mate, Bruce Schnabel, 5-11, paced the scoring on both sides of the ledger with 24.

The total included 8 for 8 from the foul line. He scored 14 of his points in the second half.

Big Mike Fenton, a 6-5 center who was given a tough time on the backboards by Newell's Simmons and Ferrell, made the double figures with 14 points.

THE COMPLEXION of last night's game changed at a rapid pace. Defeat was staring Newell in the face with only 2:48 showing on the clock and Williamstown in front by 11 points, 67-56.

Ferrell opened the last big push with a southpaw offering, then Johnson's hot hand turned in two quick field goals and with 2:07 left Newell was back in the game, trailing only 67-62.

Suddenly, the tournament-tested Williamstown team became rattled and Newell was there to take advantage of the Jackets' bad passes and violations which cropped up.

THE VIKINGS took possession on a bad pass and Robinson was fouled. He calmly stepped to the line and sank two free throws and put Newell within three points, 67-64, with 1:32 left in the game.

The clock had ticked down to 1:26 when Robinson went to the line again and connected on his first try. He missed the second and the score stood 67-65.

Simmons was fouled with 1:06 remaining and was given a chance to tie the game, but missed his first foul of a one-and-one situation and Williamstown grabbed the rebound.

ANOTHER bad pass was intercepted by Newell with 46 seconds to go and the Vikings were presented a chance to tie the game.

Johnson came driving along the base line and shuffled a neat pass to Simmons in the pivot, but the Newell center wasn't quite expecting it and it flew past him, with Williamstown recovering.

The Jackets managed to freeze the ball for about 25 seconds until Stanley was fouled with four seconds to go. He converted both, the official ruling a deliberate foul.

Both teams were almost equal in shooting percentages. Newell had 27 of 68 for 39, while Williamstown showed 22 of 53 for 41.

FERRELL was the lone senior in the Newell starting lineup and the other four, Simmons, Franczek, Robinson and Johnson, will make up a fine nucleus for the new North Hancock High School next season.

Cameron, undefeated in 20 games, and Paden City with a 20-2 mark, meet tonight at the St. Mary's High School gym, with the winner playing Williamstown for the title Saturday night.

The Region 1-A tourney will have to go down as one of the toughest in the state, since the four teams had a combined record of 80 victories and only six defeats.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Wittenberg's Eldon Miller, at 23, hit the jackpot today in his first year as a basketball coach.

Playoffs Decide Two NCAA Berths

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Conference basketball champion ships and NCAA tournament berths go up for grabs on neutral courts tonight in one-game play-offs involving the leaders in the Ivy League and Ohio Valley Conference while still a third title—the Big Six—could be decided.

Priceton and Yale, locked for the Ivy lead with 11-3 records and the regular season completed, meet in the neutral Fordham gym in New York. Morehead and Tennessee Tech finished the Ohio Valley Conference schedule with identical 8-4 records and meet at Bowling Green, Ky.

The winner in each game goes into NCAA first round tourney play, the Ivy champ against St. Joseph's, Pa., and the Ohio Valley boss against Chicago Loyola.

The other one, the Big Six, is much more complicated. It could be simple if Stanford wins at UCLA. That would settle it. The Bruins lead with a 7-3 record with two games to go, the Bruins tonight and Southern Cal Saturday.

UCLA, 5-5 with two to go, still has a chance, however. The Bruins also have two games, closing against California Saturday. Should UCLA win its two at home and Stanford lose its two road games the race ends in a tie with a playoff scheduled Tuesday at Santa Monica.

The three other NCAA spots will be decided Saturday. They go to the winners in the Big Ten, the Big Eight and the WCAC.

Two NCAA entrants and a couple of NIT teams warmed up for tourney action with Thursday victories. NCAA-bound New York University beat St. John's of New York 56-47 and Fordham, heading for the NIT, edged Manhattan 66-61 in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader.

Yankee Conference champion Connecticut, another NCAA entrant, scored a 92-74 rout at Syracuse while NIT-bound Providence scored its 12th straight victory in an 80-57 rout of Brown.

Local Volleyball Team Will Meet Salem Tonight

New Strike Zone Gets Test

Major League Teams Open Exhibition Card Saturday

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The expanded strike zone will be unveiled officially Saturday when major league baseball's 20 teams begin the exhibition season.

The world champion New York Yankees will try out the new strike zone at their Fort Lauderdale, Fla., home base against Baltimore while the National League champion San Francisco Giants play Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz.

The other teams get underway with these matchups: Cincinnati vs. Chicago White Sox, Washington vs. Los Angeles Dodgers, Kansas City vs. Milwaukee, New York Mets vs. St. Louis, Pittsburgh vs. Philadelphia, Boston vs. Chicago Cubs, Houston vs. Los Angeles Angels and Detroit vs. Minnesota.

The change in the strike zone lengthens the area but leaves untouched the width. That remains 17 inches—the width of home plate. But the zone has been lifted and lowered. Maximum height now extends to the top of the shoulders—or it may be the thorax—instead of the armpits. The low point has been moved from the top of the knee to the bottom.

According to National League Secretary Fred Fleig to top may be the thorax to guard against the tilting of the front or rear shoulders by some hitters. The thorax is the throat depression beneath the larynx.

How's the new zone going to effect play?

"It will help the high fast ball pitchers," says Yankees Manager Ralph Houk.

"It should eventually increase batting average but it may cut down on homers," says former Yankee great Joe DiMaggio.

"It won't bother me either way," says Yankee player-coach Yogi Berra. "I have no strike zone."

While the strike zone presents the No. 1 headache as the clubs start the exhibition grind, four new managers will be trying to clear their heads of numerous problems and a host of players will be out to lick personal troubles.

Birdie Tebbetts, who has been around, will be handling the remains at Cleveland in place of Mel McGaha, Bobby Bragan will be back, this time at Milwaukee instead of Tebbetts, and Johnny Pesky at Boston and Eddie Lopat at Kansas City will be making their managerial debuts.

Bob Kennedy also will be on top for the first time—for a time at least—as No. 1 man on the Chicago Cubs board of coaches.

The exhibition tour will be the first test for players who sat out a part of the 1962 season with injuries. Included in are pitchers Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, Frank Lary of Detroit and Bob Gibson of St. Louis.

Also awaiting the opening curtain are players such as Cincinnati's Gene Freese and the Cards' Minnie Mino, trying to show they can come back, and a core of oldsters led by Stan Musial of St. Louis and Early Wynn of the White Sox, back to get victory No. 300.

Birdie Feels Pitchers Tip Off Hitters

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts believes American League teams have been stealing pitches from the Cleveland Indians. He's starting a program for his hurlers to guard against tipping off what they're going to throw while on the mound.

With the exception of 20-game winner Dick Donovan, all Cleveland pitchers have been ordered by Tebbetts not to grip the ball with their bare hand until just prior to releasing it. The pitchers must take their signs and then pump or wind up with the ball in the glove. He feels this will help them from tipping off pitches.

Gary Bell and Jim (Mudcat) Grant pitched without a windup for the first time in their careers Thursday during an intrasquad game and both were effective. The Elmer Valos beat the George Stricklands 9-4.

Victories Go To Hune, Bright Five

Hune Co. and George Bright's moved into semi-final contests in the Little Potters 6th Grade League by registering victories in the opening round of the tourney Thursday.

Hune Co. will now meet Ogilvie's Thursday in the first game at 4:10 while Bright's battles Columbian Finance in the other semi-final tilt.

Hune Co. eliminated Coca-Cola, 16-7, on a balanced attack featured by Musuraca's five points. Conley dropped in seven markers to pace the Coke five.

Bright's after holding a 14-13 halftime lead, wound up on top, 25-19 over American Vit.

Flint and Christian were the big guns for Bright's scoring 11 and 10 points respectively but Montgomery of American Vit led all scorers with 14.

The Seventh Grade tourney gets underway this afternoon at the high school gym. The two survivors in each league will play at Memorial Auditorium March 19 for the championship.

Three Strokes Separate 33 At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Only three strokes separate the top 33 golfers as the Pensacola Open Golf Tournament enters its second round today.

Four pros are bunched in the lead with 67s, seven at 68, and 13 at 69. Nine more are grouped at 70.

Leading the pack at the end of the first round were Gary Player, defending champion Doug Sanders, Julius Boros and an 18-year-old unknown, Allan Henning of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Henning, whose 67 was the best of his career in competitive play, is playing only by virtue of a sponsor's exemption.

Player, Sanders and Henning fired identical cards of 32-35—67 while Boros carded 33-34—67 over the par 36-72, 6,380-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

Player is the leading money winner on the winter tour with earnings of $29,402.

Pushing the leaders at 68 were such regulars as Gay Brewer Jr., Gardner Dickinson Jr., Johnny Pott, Jim Ferrier and George Bayer.

Rail Unions See Hope In Talks If Parties 'Sincere'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leaders of five railroad unions say they believe issues in the work rules dispute with the nation's carriers can be settled through negotiations if both parties are sincere and willing.

The union heads, who met here Thursday, said also in a statement they were hopeful new bargaining talks set for next Wednesday in Chicago would "prove to be the start of genuine collective bargaining."

Further talks were scheduled after the U.S. Supreme Court Monday upheld the right of the railroads to make sweeping changes in work rules to eliminate jobs regarded by the carriers as unnecessary. The lines claim what they termed antiquated work rules cost them $600 million a year.

The five unions — representing 210,000 on-train employees — are seeking to prevent the possible elimination of some 65,000 jobs, including 40,000 firemen. They maintain that the present work rules and the jobs they provide are necessary for safe and efficient operation of trains.

Union leaders who signed the statement represent the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; the Switchmen's Union of North America, and the Order of Railway Conductors & Brakemen.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about fresh oil spots on wallpaper?

A. Apply some talcum powder liberally to the stain, give this time to absorb the grease, then wipe clean with a dry cloth. Repeat, if necessary.

Q. How can I freshen lemons that have become hardened from long standing?

A. By covering them with boiling water and letting them stand for just a few minutes.

Q. How can I make a neater job of fastening the backing on pictures I am framing?

A. From your hardware store, procure some of the little triangular points used for setting windowglass in panes, and use these for fastening down your picture backing. They go into the frame easily, and lie flat without gouging tracks in the cardboard.

Q. What is an easy way to remove burnt spots from the inside of some of my enamel saucepans?

A. Fill the pans with salt water and let this soak for about two hours, then cover the pan tightly, and bring to a slow boil. The burned particles will almost fall off.

Q. How can I take proper care of brooms?

A. Scald the brooms for a minute or two in boiling soapsuds once a week, and this treatment will keep them tough and flexible.

Q. How can I keep partly used cans of paint from hardening?

A. Try the same method that jelly and jam makers use for preserving. Pour some melted paraffin or wax over the top of the paint that is left in the can. This will harden into an airtight, protective coating.

Current Tax Rate Retained At Ohioville

Tax rates were maintained at 7 mills for general operating purposes and a $3 per capita tax when Ohioville Council adopted its 1963 budget at a meeting Thursday night at the Borough Building.

The budget shows estimated receipts of $35,752, including $11,781 from state gasoline tax funds for road maintenance, and estimated expenditures of $29,975.

The borough had an unencumbered balance of $5,777 from 1962.

Council scheduled a special meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. to discuss the street light problem after a delegation from the Midland View area complained the light assessment is too high.

It approved on first reading an ordinance regulating the installation of drainage facilities on public or private roads adjoining borough roads.

Council set the inspection fee at $3 and named George Gailey Jr., road foreman, to make the inspections. Gailey will receive $2 of the fee and the borough will get $1 on each inspection.

Art Hum, Joseph Machuta, Walter Spencer, Andrew Daniel and James Petrella were hired as special police on the recommendation of Mayor Elmer R. Gifford.

Council instructed Atty. Sam B. Wilson, solicitor, to prepare an ordinance to control dogs running at large. It also authorized Mrs. Emily Carroll, borough secretary, to advertise for slag for use on roads.

The utilities committee headed by Councilman Louis Poff was authorized to install six more street lights at intersections.

Councilman Paul Dawson, chairman of the legislative committee, reported a meeting has been scheduled tentatively for March 21 at 7:30 p. m. with the zoning and planning commission to discuss a proposed zoning ordinance.

Dawson also asked Council to promote an athletic program in the borough.

Borough residents also were urged to attend Water Authority meetings the fourth Thursday of each month to obtain information on progress of the water program.

Awards Made At Dinner

Louthan's Safety Record Cited

For compiling the best 1962 safety record among the 20 domestic operating divisions of the Ferro Corp., some 150 employees and guests of the Louthan plant of the Refractories Division were honored at a dinner Thursday night at the St. Alloysius School cafeteria.

The East End refractories plant completed 1962 without a disabling injury and has been free of lost-time accidents since Aug. 3, 1960, a total of 945 days.

Shown with some of the safety awards presented at the dinner are, from the left, Leonard Kupchinsky, plant superintendent; Fred Layne, assistant general manager of the Refractories Division; J. R. Killpack, Ferro treasurer; Ronald Garland, Louthan industrial engineer; and W. H. Corban, works manager.

The president's safety award was presented by Killpack to Layne, former Louthan superintendent. It marks the second time in the history of the award that a plant has won it for two consecutive years and makes the third straight time the award has been won by the Refractories Division.

Layne presented the general manager's award for safety achievement to Corban.

Russell Frank, Ferro safety director, presented the National Safety Council award to Garland, along with an award for the plant recording no lost-time accidents.

Kupchinsky was presented with an award from the Fidelity & Casualty Insurance Co. of New York by Hal Connare, Ferro director of personnel relations.

Connare also presented certificates to nine supervisory personnel for completing a safety school sponsored by the National Safety Council.

William Thornberry, sales engineer, was master of ceremonies. Entertainment was presented by the Colonials.

Youths Fined For Old Case

EAST PALESTINE — Four Beaver County young men, cited in February for parking on the highway but who failed to appear for a hearing before County Judge Herbert Arfman, were fined $50 and costs each Thursday after they had been apprehended here earlier this week.

Ronald Fields, Fred Freed, Charles Miladin and Gerald Laughrey, all of Beaver Falls, were taken into custody near Rogers last month by the Ohio Highway Patrol which said they and four county youths were about to hold a drag race.

The four county boys were fined for parking on the highway, and the four from Beaver Falls forfeited $15 bonds when they failed to appear for a hearing. Judge Arfman, however, ordered the four into court and issued a warrant.

East Palestine police spotted the four earlier this week and arrested them. The four told Judge Arfman yesterday they had been advised by Pennsylvania authorities they did not have to appear in Ohio.

Judge Arfman suspended $25 of the fines.

Warden Airs 'Villain' Role Of His Duties

In an unusual courtroom address to four persons he had cited before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Dog Warden Robert Croyle today hit at the villain's role in which his job sometimes casts him, declaring parents often tell their children he is responsible for disappearance of an unwanted pet.

"My job is a hard, thankless one," Croyle declared after the judge had granted him permission to speak. "Parents who want a dog removed sometimes say: 'Please come when my children are not at home.'"

"I cried for one little girl whose mother called me to come and take her pet," the warden continued. "I got down on my knees and told her: 'Little girl, I'm not responsible for this. Your mother is.' The mother called me later and apologized for the position she had placed me in."

Croyle was allowed to speak in the court after the judge had meted out suspended fines of $10 and costs to four persons accused of permitting dogs to run at large. Seven others were penalized for violations of the dog laws yesterday.

Appearing before the judge today were: Mrs. John Covert, 306 Gardendale Ave.; James Staley of Carson St.; Don Booth of Gar-dendale and George McCoy, 280 Gardendale Ave.

The last in the series of dog law cases is set Friday, March 29. The defendant is Mrs. Alvin Skeens, 201 Norton St., also accused of allowing a dog to run at large. All the citations were issued last week by Croyle in a crackdown against roving and unlicensed dogs.

Croyle said it often is a close neighbor or a friend who complains about a roving dog, but he never reveals the complainant's name when talking with the canine's owner.

He said the principal complaint is that dogs commit nuisances on others' property and destroy lawns, shrubs and hedges.

"We hope these cases will have a salutary effect on all people who own dogs," Judge Chertoff commented.

"I wanted everyone to realize the law says you cannot allow dogs to rove at large. The warden is only doing his duty. He does a good job."

Booth told the court he owns 19 dogs, raising them as a hobby in a kennel operation. He said he keeps all the dogs penned except two, which are so large they can leap the fence. The judge warned the two must be penned in the future.

Hearing Postponed

EAST PALESTINE — A hearing scheduled Thursday before County Judge Herbert Arfman for Mrs. Mary DeLillo of R. D. 1, charged with the theft of items from the Blocco Bargain Center store where she was employed, was continued by the judge.
